ALL DATA ABOUT DEPRESSION TO BE MADE PUBLIC

Facts to Be Given Out by Lamont Regardless of Inference Drawn

TONE NOW OPTIMISTIC

Automobile Industry's Recovery Expected to Provide Many Jobs

Washington—(CPA)—Although the department of commerce estimate showing more than six million unemployed is by no means pleasing, Secretary Lamont has determined that the public shall have the benefit of the facts no matter what inferences may be drawn.

Ever since the depression began there have been two conflicting schools of thought, those who believed unpleasant news should be suppressed in the interests of better morale and public psychology and those who felt that to erase suspicion and skepticism for the building up of morale all the facts should be published.

The pressure upon the administration from time to time has been political, particularly preceding last autumn's elections when it was sought to convey the belief that the depression was temporary. Now, however, with congress out of the way and with the government departments, especially the permanent personnel, feeling more or less resigned to the depression, it may be said that a change in policy has been developed by Mr. Lamont in his announcements about the special census.

Data to be Published
From time to time a special census will be taken again and the public will be given the facts. Certainly the relief agencies observed a slackening of effort and contributions the moment optimistic news about the business situation was proclaimed.

From now on the public will be given the figures on unemployment so that the responsibilities of the states and cities in providing relief funds may be shared by the general public with a better understanding of what is needed.

Mr. Lamont's statement is couched in phrases of restraint and caution and there is no prophecy as to the

"UNLOADED GUN" KILLS GIRL IN SUPERIOR HOME

Superior—(CP)—Twelve-year-old Mabel Anderson was dead today, the victim of a revolver her playmate and accidental slayer, Gladys Harstad, 12, thought was not loaded.

Mabel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Anderson, went to a few doors down the street to visit with her school chum last night. Rummaging in a dresser drawer they found the revolver, property of Gladys' older brother.

Believing there were no shells in the gun, Gladys leveled it and pulled the trigger. The bullet struck Mabel in the chest. She died before reaching the hospital.

ISSUES CHALLENGE TO DUEL

San Diego, Calif.—(CP)—Mariano Fuga, attorney for General Motors, challenged Oswald Knoch, chief attorney for a firm which has sued General Motors, to a duel unless the latter retracts statements he made in a letter to a newspaper here. Knoch is a son-in-law of President Obanex and a former minister of justice.

Hoover Gets Ovation In Porto Rico

San Juan, Porto Rico—(CP)—Thousands of people welcomed President Hoover here at 12:30 this afternoon.

The president went immediately to the governor's palace upon his arrival, pausing only long enough to receive a salute from the 55th regiment.

Ovations greeted President Hoover all along the route from Ponce, where he landed, to San Juan today. The president rode with Governor Roosevelt in a touring car, the top of which was let down, and paused briefly in each village.

Flag-waving school children met him everywhere and cheered as he greeted them. Replying to the address of welcome of the mayor of Ponce the president said:

"This visit gives me an opportunity to learn your problems and to view your progress. Your governor is the son of your American president who began the work of helping Porto Rico."

"I hope my visit will mean closer cooperation between Porto Rico and the mainland."

One pennant across the street at Ponce this morning bore the words "God bless the president."

The president lunched and rested at government house after a sunlit drive over the beautiful rolling country to San Juan. Conferences were arranged for this afternoon with insular spokesmen and a dinner is on the program for tonight.

HIGH COURT RECESSES AFTER BRIEF SESSION

Washington—(CP)—The supreme court met briefly today and recessed until April 13.

A decision was handed down ruling that under the Federal Employers Liability act the statute of limitations begins to run at the time of an accident to an employee and not at the time of his death from such an accident.

The ruling favored the New Haven railroad in a suit brought by Edward E. Flynn of New Haven, the son of a railroad worker who died several years after being injured in an accident.

Three aliens seeking to prevent deportation lost. They contended the issuance of deportation orders had been barred by the statute of limitations. The court held the statute did not apply.

The court refused to review the case by the Northwestern, the John S. Owen, the Rust Owen and the New Delhi Lumber companies, challenging the validity of a law under which the Wisconsin tax commission recouped their books, revalued their timber properties in the state and assessed additional state income taxes.

NO FURTHER ACTION ON NEBRASKA BANK LAW

Washington—(CP)—Supreme court today refused to review its recent decision sustaining the validity of the old Nebraska bank guaranty law.

The Abie and other state banks which challenged the validity of the law urged the court to permit them to argue orally the provisions of the act of March 18, 1930, which modified the old law by providing a depositors' final settlement fund.

They said they had not expected the decision of the court would be based on the operation of the new law, but the new law would be held to change the effect of the assessments which had caused their complaint.

They urged the court to permit them to be heard in challenging the constitutionality of the new law, on the ground that it takes assessments from one class of banks to pay depositors in another, and deprives operating banks of assets which should be held for the benefit of their depositors and stockholders.

TRADE ACCORD BRINGS QUIZ BY THREE NATIONS

Customs Union Open to Other European Powers, Austria Replies

Paris—(CP)—The French cabinet approved today the movement initiated by Aristide Briand to attempt to determine whether the Austro-German economic accord involved any infringement of the independence of Austria.

Briand explained that the ministers of various European powers interested have requested information on the proposed treaty from Vienna.

Dispatches from Vienna brought the information that diplomatic representatives of France, Italy and Czechoslovakia had called upon Austrian Prime Minister Schöberl but there was no mention of Schöberl's having received the British government's representative.

The Paris Echo says that Briand invited England to participate in the inquiry but that no reply had been received from Downing-st. A spokesman for the French government, however, expressed the opinion that the reason the British government had taken no action at Vienna was due to the absence of Foreign Minister Henderson who is en route to Paris for tomorrow's meeting of the committee on European union. It was said that France is convinced England will act today at Vienna.

The French government, it was said, has minimized the importance of the Austro-German accord, although the Parisian press has printed columns about it, calling it the first step in an Austro-German union.

AMERICAN POLITICS ASSAILED BY BUTLER

Columbia University Head Sees Threat in U. S. Indifference

Berkeley, Calif.—(CP)—Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, indicated American politics today asserting "we have achieved well-nigh a miracle of unrepresentative government."

Speaking before the University of California on its charter day, Dr. Butler said party organization and responsibility had disappeared.

"An interested, intelligent and informed electorate, which returns to the ideals of liberty of the country's fathers," he said, "is necessary to prevent the political organization of the country from giving way to a new form, such as Fascism or Communism."

"Political indifference," he said, "far outruns political participation." Political parties, he charged had been succeeded by names and trademarks and "the interests of the people are left to the fiftieth play of individual ambition, individual temper, individual prejudice and individual hate."

He criticized the direct primary laws.

"The office-holding and office-seeking class," he said, "is concerned only with what will be thought on the Tuesday following the first Monday of the next November, and looks with perfect unconcern upon principles at stake."

Widow Of General Pickett, Confederate Leader, Dies

Washington—(CP)—"Mother," Pickett of snow-white hair and charming accent no more will tell of the last confederate charge at Gettysburg or draw word pictures of interesting characters and incidents.

In a private hospital here yesterday Mrs. La Salle Corbell Pickett, called "mother" even by presidents, died of hardening of the arteries in her eighty-third year. With her passed the tingling tale she told of how Confederates stormed up Cemetery ridge at Gettysburg on July 3, 1863, only to be repulsed when they found the Union forces had not exhausted their ammunition.

She had reason to know that story well. She was 15 when she married the officer who led the southern forces—General Edward Pickett. Before his death in 1875 she became known as "the child bride of the Confederacy" praised for her vivacity and beauty.

A favorite in society, she knew every president beginning with Lincoln, and met authors, actors and diplomats. One of her most colorful

TWO IN COURT FOR DRUNKEN DRIVING

One Man Fined and Second Is Sent to Jail for 60 Days

Two drunken drivers were fined $50 and costs each by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning when they pleaded guilty.

Delmar Cayo, DePere, was unable to pay the fine, and was sent to the county jail for 60 days. Peter Wildenberg, 1925 W. Summer - st paid the fine.

Both men will lose their drivers' licenses for six months, as an order to that effect was sent by Judge Berg to the secretary of state.

Wildenberg was arrested last Wednesday morning after his car had left the street and run over the front lawn at the residence of Judge Fred V. Heinemann, 217 N. Green Bay-st. The car damaged rose bushes and the lawn. Wildenberg was arrested later as he was driving on E. North-st. He pleaded guilty in court Wednesday afternoon before Judge Heinemann, but sentence was deferred until later.

Cayo was arrested about 10 o'clock last night by James McFadden, assistant chief of police at Kaukauna. Officer McFadden said Cayo was driving along the street in a manner that endangered other motorists. He was held at the police station in Kaukauna last night.

THREE DEATHS BEING PROBED IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee—(CP)—Deaths of three Milwaukeeans were being investigated today by coroner Henry Grundman.

Donald Parson, 30, a postoffice clerk, apparently committed suicide at his home yesterday by attaching one end of a rubber hose to a gas jet and placing the tube in his mouth, according to police.

The body of Mrs. Jane Morris, 32, a widow, was found in the kitchen of her home with three gas jets open. The death was believed accidental.

Mrs. Maud Davis, 54, was found dead on a couch in her home last night. A bottle of chloroform was found near the body. Relatives said Mrs. Davis had suffered from stomach trouble.

Do You Play Contract Bridge?

If not, you are missing one of the most fascinating of card games. Nothing in the recent history of cards has created such a furor as contract. Every day more and more people are taking up the pastime.

Beginning today the Appleton Post-Crescent is offering a daily article on the principles and the fine points of contract bidding by no less an authority than Wilbur C. Whitehead. The series starts with the very fundamentals of the game so that anyone with just ordinary knowledge of bridge can understand it. Eventually it will lead on to the more intricate phases of contract bidding. It starts today on

COMPLETE JURY FOR BROTHERS MURDER TRIAL

First Arguments in Lingle Mystery Set for Tomorrow Morning

Criminal Court Building, Chicago—(P)—The jury to try Leo Brothers for the murder of Alfred Lingle, Tribune police reporter, was completed 11:15 today and immediately sworn.

The jury was taken out of the courtroom while the attorneys wrangled over various points of law. No session will be held this afternoon and the opening arguments were set for tomorrow morning.

The complete jury follows: Herman Isaacson, employee of a furniture company; Edward J. Brown, outdoor advertising man; Walter W. Graff, electric worker; Herman Crozier, unemployed steel worker; Kelley Stone, glass cutter; Jacob Schlosser, factory foreman; David Tateel, garage manager; Frank Edgeworth, mechanic; Edward Larson, unemployed carpenter; Herbert Thompson, clerk; Phillip Hagerman, street car motorman; Lars S. Aadnesen, unemployed painter.

As the last veniremen were questioned, the prosecution indicated that the question of "Why was Lingle killed?" might go unanswered.

"The supreme court of this state has ruled," said Assistant State Attorney Wayland Brooks, "and I think Judge Sabath will instruct you that the state is not obliged to prove why a man was murdered. If we can prove that this defendant fired the shot that killed Lingle, it will make no difference then if we have not shown why he did it."

Would Bar Arrests Reports
The points of law argued before Judge Joseph Sabath included a defense attempt to exclude from the trial any mention of Brothers' arrests in St. Louis. Defense Attorney Tyrrell Krum said his client had never been indicted or convicted and that any mention of conflicts with the law in St. Louis would constitute a reversible error.

The jury was completed with unexpected speed. It had taken all last week to fill the first two panels. The state took over a tentative third panel this morning and one man was excused by agreement. Three who had definite opinions on the case quickly were eliminated, and then Aadnesen was given a thorough examination by Brooks.

The defense questioned him but briefly, went into a huddle with the defendant and announced that the panel was accepted.

Brooks' indication that the state would rely solely on identification of Brothers as the killer put a decided crimp on the prospects of the trial's becoming a passage way to the inner secrets of gangland. From the time Lingle was shot down in a crowded pedestrian tunnel last June, the question of who ordered his death and why almost overshadowed the problem of the identity of the actual assassin.

AWAIT ORDER TO RAISE HORICON MARSH LEVEL

Fond du Lac—(CP)—Permission to raise the Horicon marsh water level to a maximum of 75.3 feet if necessary to effectually restore the marsh to pre-drainage condition was awaited today by conservation officials from the railroad commission.

William Mauthe, chairman of the conservation commission, said Adolph Kanneberg of the railroad commission had promised to obtain formal sanction to the higher level. The railroad commission previously had set the limit of river raise about five feet lower.

It was agreed, Mauthe said, the raise shall be gradual to determine the exact height necessary to restore the marsh and that as work proceeds affected land of slough rights will be purchased.

BURGLAR GANG BEING SOUGHT AT GREEN BAY

Green Bay—(CP)—Police today sought a gang of burglars escaped with 15 cloth coats from the J. H. Golden company, the coats were valued at $1,000. The burglars were frightened away by a passerby and dropped a sack containing about $2,000 worth of fur coats.

Police said they believed the Golden burglary committed by the same gang that obtained $1,500 worth of silk and wood dresses at the Hoslet store a week ago.

TWO REFUSED REVIEWS
Washington—(CP)—John F. L. O'Leary and Henry J. Sullivan, lawyers of Milwaukee, convicted of conspiracy and now serving sentences of one year in the Milwaukee County House of Correction, today were refused reviews by the supreme court.

Demonstrator Will Show Women How To Eliminate Drudgery From Housework

Appleton housewives will learn how to take the drudgery out of their housework under one of the foremost cooking school demonstrators in the middle west, Mrs. Opal Neldhamer. She will conduct the Post-Crescent Cooking school to be held in the high school auditorium Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

The school will begin at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, March 24, following with afternoon sessions on Wednesday and Thursday, and one night session at 7:30 Thursday evening. Prizes will be awarded again this year at every session. Their total value will approximate $500.

Mrs. Neldhamer has taught and assisted thousands of housewives throughout the country in the various schools that she has conducted for 12 years. For the last seven years Mrs. Neldhamer has held independent cooking schools, unconnected with any business firm. This is the type of Post-Crescent school will be this year. She began assisting home-makers in connection with small cooking schools for a large manufacturer of gas ranges. She made an intensive study of her work for many years in an effort to assist the housewife in the operation of her home on a business-like basis.

Mrs. Neldhamer is a graduate of Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y. Went to Coast
Last year she made a trip to the western coast, conducting schools in Colorado Springs, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Portland. One of the largest schools Mrs. Neldhamer ever conducted was in Atlanta, Ga., last December. Among the largest cooking schools in Wisconsin under Mrs. Neldhamer's supervision are those in Two Rivers, Manitowish, Sheboygan, Racine, Janesville and Fond du Lac. Each of these schools in the state had a record attendance and the women received many helpful pointers in the art of home management.

The kitchen is not a place of drudgery to Mrs. Neldhamer, but an important workshop which must be run on a smooth-working and scientific basis. With this as her viewpoint, she will present to members of the Post-Crescent school, helpful methods of making housework easier and demonstrate several household appliances in illustration of this. She also will include a thorough discussion of the budget in her lectures. Her order will give women a more complete understanding of homemaking as an art.

ANTI-DUMPING ORDER ON FOREIGN MATCHES

Washington—(CP)—Secretary Mellon today signed an anti-dumping order against the importation of matches from Finland, Norway, Estonia, Sweden, Latvia, Austria, Holland and Poland. The edict is effective immediately.

Under the regulation, the duty will be the difference between what is considered a fair price for matches by the treasury department and the price at which the product is dumped in the United States.

The treasury has set a fair valuation of 80 cents per gross and it was said approximately $750,000 would accrue to the government from this order.

The controversy over matches started in 1928, the treasury said, when Russia began dumping operations.

REV. HODSON REFUSES TO APPEAR IN COURT

Sturgeon Bay—(CP)—The Rev. John E. Hodson, pastor of Christ's Episcopal church, today told newspapermen he would refuse to appear at a church court called by the Rev. Harwood Sturtevant, Appleton, bishop coadjutor of the Fond du Lac diocese, to show cause why he should not be ousted from the ministry.

Mr. Hodson Friday was ousted from his parsonage and ordered by circuit court to pay $300 damages for rent. The board of trustees of his church maintained they ordered him from the parsonage last November. Mr. Hodson said the ouster moved was started against him because he opposed elevation of Mr. Sturtevant as bishop coadjutor. Mr. Sturtevant ordered him to appear before a church court April 28.

$72,500 TO BE SPENT ON BADGER FORESTS

Milwaukee—(CP)—Announcement that the federal government will spend $72,500 this year in Wisconsin for forestry development, of which $40,000 is immediately available for unemployment relief, was made today by E. W. Tinker, regional forester.

The available funds will be expended prior to July 1. Tinker said and will be used to construct roads and look-out towers in the Moquah reserve in Bayfield-co and the Oneida and Flambeau units. Three 85-foot steel towers will be erected in the units, one in each.

PREPARE FOR YOUR HOME GARDEN!

There'll be many a plot of vegetables flourishing in the back yards this summer. And one of them can be your own with the little exertion there's in it for the fun you get out of it.

To show you how easy it is to plant and cultivate your own home garden of vegetables, the Appleton Post-Crescent has had W. R. Beattie, garden expert of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, prepare a series of articles on this subject. They're short, clear, interesting and full of valuable information.

BOARD'S STAND IN GRAIN CRISIS STIRS LEADERS

Watson Claims Board Holdings Menace—Wants Speculators Back

WHEAT PRICES FALL

Tumble to Low Ground Since 1895 on Chicago's Grain Market

Chicago—(CP)—Wheat prices on the Chicago market dropped to low ground unknown since 1895 today, sagging 3 to 11 cents a bushel or more.

The crash followed announcement by the farm board that it will not attempt to maintain prices by stabilization operations beyond the month of May. Action of the market was contrary to the expressed opinion of George S. Minor, president of the Grain Stabilization corporation, that the news constituted a bullish factor in the market.

July wheat, representing contracts on the new crop unprotected by stabilization buying, collapsed from Saturday's closing figure of 66½ cents a bushel to around 59½ cents, the lowest in 36 years. June delivery, in which there is little trading, dropped 11 cents.

Washington—(CP)—A renewed demand for the equalization fee plan of disposing of agricultural surpluses was voiced today by Republican Leader Watson of the senate in the wake of the farm board's announcement that it would purchase none of the 1931 wheat crop.

Senator Watson long has been an advocate of the equalization fee, which as a feature of the McNary-Haugen bill was vetoed by former President Coolidge.

Discussing the effect of the farm board's announcement today, Watson said: "We have not to have the equalization fee that appears to be the only remedy."

The Indiana senator said he did not believe in the export debenture, which the farm group supported in the last congress in the face of opposition from President Hoover.

He added he did not know what would be done with the more than 200,000,000 bushels of wheat accumulated by farm board agencies, but said he had been informed that one third of it already had deteriorated to such an extent it could only be used for cattle feed.

The farm board holdings, Watson said, constitute a "menace" to the market because they have driven the speculator out of it.

Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, said the "equalization fee, debenture or any other artificial method," would not solve the surplus question.

The situation would never right itself, he thought, until the farmer is able to sell more directly and to spread out his crop sales over a long period, instead of dumping all his wheat on the market after harvest and accepting whatever price middle men were willing to pay.

Asked if he thought the farm board should be discontinued Couzens said there were many other functions for the board besides buying and selling surplus commodities.

Hope For Debenture
A prediction that optional use of the export debenture and the equalization fee would be substituted for stabilization operations came today from Chester H. Gray, of the American Farm Bureau federation.

Gray, a Washington representative of the organization, pointed to abandonment by the farm board of stabilization operations in wheat as the forerunner of a congressional move to strip the board of this power and substitute the two points of contention in the long campaign for farm relief.

"This will be done by friends of the act, not its enemies," he said.

Sam H. Thompson, newest member of the farm board, was president of the American Farm Bureau federation until his appointment by President Hoover last week to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Alexander Legge.

Thompson long was an advocate of the equalization fee. No word has been received today as to when he would assume his new duties.

Gray predicted 50 cent wheat as a result of the board's announcement of yesterday.

"The action of the board," Gray said, "means that the burden of taking care of crop surpluses has been thrown back on the farmer where it always has been. Farmers don't need a farm board to tell them that."

He observed that farmers would reduce acreage only when economic conditions absolutely forced them.

FLOUR PRICES FALL
Minneapolis—(CP)—Flour prices on the Minneapolis market dropped 2½ cents a barrel today, skidding from Saturday's closing quotation of $1.6 to $1.55 for family patents. The drop was attributed by one large flour concern to efforts to meet the lower prices of smaller companies. The price of bran also was said to have some influence in the drop.

Reform Groups, And Socialists Act To Force Special Session

DEPRESSION IS ATTACK CENTER IN MOVEMENT

Conference Delegates Confer With Political Leaders on Question

Washington—(AP)—A program designed to force an extra session of congress to deal with economic distress was adopted today at a conference of representatives of various reform organizations, peace societies and the national socialist party.

Delegates to the conference, headed by Norman Thomas, former socialist candidate for president, immediately began a series of conferences with political leaders demanding the extra session.

They called first on senate Republican Leader Watson. He told them he did not believe the situation had reached a point where an extra session was necessary.

Watson promised, however, to talk the situation over with President Hoover on his return from his Caribbean cruise.

The program adopted by the conference provided also for appeals to Speaker Longworth of the house and the chairman of the national committees of the two major political parties.

The conference also agreed to ask the leaders of the recent Progressive conference to appeal to the country for an extra session and to go out and make speeches for it if possible.

Urging Trade Reports

The program also proposes to get members of congress to report to President Hoover on economic conditions in their districts and to organize a large delegation to appeal personally to Mr. Hoover for him to call congress together.

Discussion largely centered around the basis for the extra session demand.

It was generally agreed that the need for unemployment relief should play a major part but some insisted international affairs should also be considered.

International questions discussed included the world court, international debts, the recognition of Russia and the international aspects of the Hawley-Smoot tariff law.

Thomas, as chief spokesman, told Senator Watson "the sheer mass of human misery demands something beyond local relief. He said the country had sustained a wage loss in 1930 of $9,000,000,000.

Watson asked Thomas if he advocated the dole and the socialist leader agreed that that was included in the program.

Watson said he was "voluntarily opposed" to the dole system but said he would be willing to take money out of the treasury to prevent starvation if necessary.

He added, however, that this country had not yet reached that condition.

Agreeing that the return of prosperity is still some time off, Watson said "it is business to recover it will not do it while congress is in session."

Appeal to Longworth

The group later called on Speaker Longworth and Chairman Snell of the house rules committee to urge an extra session by May 1.

Like Senator Watson, the speaker promised to lay the request before the president but called attention to the close political division of the nation and the uncertainty as to which party would organize either branch.

Thomas expressed the belief that the situation was serious enough to warrant an extra session regardless of organization difficulties.

He said direct relief should be afforded by the government matching local aid dollar for dollar, to be followed up by "a real liberty loan for public works."

J. J. Nevins Sayre, secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, who has just returned from a tour of ten European countries, said his tariff, war debts and disarmament demanded immediate attention of congress.

"Which way would you revise the tariff?" asked Snell.

"Downward," Sayre replied.

"Would that help American employment?"

"Yes, in the long run. It would prevent Europe from buying American goods."

TWO SPEEDERS FINED $10 AND COSTS EACH

Two speeders were fined $10 and costs each by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning when they pleaded guilty. Norbert Vola, 311 Depot-st., Kaukauna, was arrested about 2 o'clock Monday morning for traveling 47 miles an hour on E. Wisconsin-ave, and Dorcas Bergmark, 11 Polk-st., Oshkosh, was arrested for traveling 40 miles an hour on S. Memorial-dr at 6 o'clock this morning. Polk was arrested on the north side of Memorial bridge in the residential section. Both arrests were made by Gus Herceg, motorcycle officer.

CIGARS AND CIGARETS STOLEN, POLICE TOLD

A burglar broke into the soft drink store of Howard Van Roy, 733 W. Wisconsin-ave, early Sunday evening and stole two boxes of cigars, several packs of cigarettes and a small amount of change from the cash register. The place of business had been closed for the evening, but the theft was discovered when the proprietor returned later. The burglar gained entrance by breaking through a window in the rear east side of the building. Sergeant John Duval is investigating.

WILKINS' U-BOAT OFFICER IS LOST

Quartermaster on Nautilus Falls Overboard in New York Outer Harbor

New York—(AP)—Willard I. Grimmer, quartermaster of Sir Hubert Wilkins' polar submarine Nautilus, was lost overboard yesterday in the outer harbor as the craft was on the way to the Brooklyn navy yard for christening today. He was married three weeks ago.

Report of the tragedy by Commander Sloan Danehower, skipper of the craft, was merely that Grimmer had been lost, that a thorough search had been made. Members of the crew said the cable, or deck rail, broke under his weight and that he fell into the sea from the after deck. The cable was intact when the submarine was berthed last night.

Grimmer, 27 years old, was formerly a radio operator in the navy. Until his engagement as quartermaster for the projected polar expedition he sold insurance. His widow, Mrs. Grimmer, is the former Miss Mary Fountain of Philadelphia.

Navy tugs, police launches and navy airplanes joined in search for Grimmer after radio calls were sent from the submarine. The craft was being towed by a tug when the quartermaster was lost. Sir Hubert was not aboard.

The submarine formerly the O-12 of the navy, was recently reconditioned for the polar undersea trip at Camden, N. J., when it started for New York last Monday it ran into a snowstorm and was forced to seek shelter in Philadelphia navy yard. On the next day it lost its anchor off Marcus Hook, Pa.

The polar trip will be made in July.

17 CRAFT POSITION AS COUNTY MOTOR OFFICER

Seventeen men have made application for the position of county motor officer, mayor stated by the recent death of Officer Andrew Miller. Ten applicants filed their requests with the highway department and seven others filed applications with Sheriff John Lappen. In addition, the sheriff said, he has received applications from five or six men outside the county, but these will not be considered. The highway committee is meeting this afternoon and probably will act on the applications.

CLARK TO SPEAK AT FOND DU LAC MEETING

100 MILLION IS DIVIDED UNDER WENDEL WILL

Hospitals, Church Missions, Charities Are Beneficiaries

New York—(AP)—Sale of realty holdings approximating $100,000,000 is ordered in the will of Miss Ella Wendel, last of the famous New York family. After certain specific bequests, the bulk of the estate is to be divided into 200 parts, which are to go in varying proportions to hospitals, church missions and other charities.

Coincidentally with the filing of the will George Flint Warren, Jr., attorney for the executors, issued a statement noting "the more prominent gifts, other than those to the residuary legatees."

The Wendel family home at Fifth-ave and 39th-st is bequeathed to Drew Theological seminary "as a memorial to the decedent's father, the late John D. Wendel."

Four beneficiaries receive 35 shares each of the residuary estate. They are the Drew Theological seminary, Madison, N. J., St. Christopher's home for children, Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., New York Society for the Relief of Ruptured and Crippled; Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal church, for the Nanking Theological Seminary at Nanking, China; and the New York Homoeopathic Medical College and Flower hospital, "exclusively for the flower hospital."

The remainder of the 200 shares is parcelled to various charities and educational institutions.

The will is dated July 20, 1922, and is followed by codicils dated as late as June 13, 1929. The codicils, according to the statement of the attorney "are of small significance."

The living executors named are Charles G. Koss, George Stanley Shirk and Isabel G. Koss.

"Since the sisters of Miss Ella V. Wendel and her daughter, A. D. Wendel (Swope) predeceased her," the statement said, "the absolute gifts and life estates to them lapsed."

"The executors are specifically empowered to sell all the real estate for the purpose of making distribution."

"Considering the will of Miss Wendel in connection with that of Mrs. Swope, it was evidently intended that the will of the survivor should divide the Wendel estate."

APPLETON BOWLERS TRIM OSHKOSH TEAMS

Bowling teams of Senior Olive branch Waltham league of Mount Olive church defeated the Bethlehem church Keglers of Oshkosh on the A. A. L. alleys Sunday. The men's team walloped the Oshkosh men's team three straight, and the girls defeated their opponents two out of three. The St. Paul men's team of this city was defeated by Trinity church bowlers, Oshkosh, two out of three. The Appleton women's team trounced the Trinity women's keglers three straight.

AWARD CONTRACT TO PRINT PROCEEDINGS

The Badger Printing company has been awarded the contract to print 400 booklets containing the proceedings of the county board for 1930, according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk. The bid of this company was $150. The booklets must be completed and delivered to the county clerk by April 15. They will be distributed to the county board at the April meeting.

PHYSICAL DIRECTOR TO ADDRESS CHAMBER

The committee in charge of the program for the annual meeting of the chamber of commerce next month will meet at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon in the chamber offices. It is expected the date will be selected. B. J. Rohan is committee chairman.

ONE DRUNK IS FINED; SECOND SENT TO JAIL

John Kafner, 535 W. Lawrence-st, and S. S. Streeter, some address, were fined $10 and costs each by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning when they pleaded guilty of drunkenness. Kafner was unable to pay the fine and was sent to the county jail for five days, while Streeter paid. Both men were arrested about 12:15 Sunday morning at the corner of College-ave and State-st.

STILL MAKES HOME IN CHURCH DESPITE RULING BY COURT

Antioch, Ill.—(AP)—The address of Clarence Sploring and family still is "Methodist Episcopal church, Hickory Corners, Ill." After his home across the street from the church burned, Sploring moved his family in, bag and baggage, declaring the church trustees lost their right to the property because services were suspended during the winter.

He was overruled by a justice court but appealed from a charge of "breaking, entering and usurping," retaining possession while the case is pending.

His brindle pup whose barks awakened the family during the fire, was with him.

WHITE HOUSE CHIEF FLORIST QUILTS POST

Retirement Law Forces Charles Henlock to Leave After 45 Years

Washington—(AP)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover and the presidents' wives who succeed her will have to do without the floral planning of Charles Henlock for White House parties.

Henlock, 74, will retire March 31 after 45 years in the White House green houses. Twenty of those years he has served as chief, but the rigid requirements of the retirement law now compel him to relinquish his position.

During his long term he has decided what flowers deck the state dining room, the blue room and the east room for receptions, dinners and even weddings.

He sent masses of pink azaleas to the White House for the wedding of Governor Cleveland Theodore Roosevelt, he says, was the only president who ever visited his green houses, though the first ladies always come.

"We try to meet the desires of the various first ladies, but the White House floral decorations usually must be decided by the flowers which are blooming at the time," he says.

"Sometimes a president's wife will send word she wants roses for a dinner, but if the buds are not out far enough we have to substitute carnations."

Roses, carnations, freesia and snapdragons are the flowers most used for the executive mansion, Henlock says.

Thousands of people all over the country have depended for years upon Henlock's advice as to when to come to Washington to see the cherry blossoms. This year, he predicts, they will be out around April 1.

HEBERT REPLIES TO SENATOR BARKLEY

Denies He Ever Tried to Secure Legislation for Insurance Firm

Providence, R. I.—(AP)—United States Senator Felix Hebert, commenting upon the statement issued by Senator Barkley, Kentucky Democrat, last night regarding his alleged lobbying on behalf of insurance interests, said today:

"As I understand it a lobbyist is a man who tries to secure passage of legislation for any one who may hire him. I never have done that. I have had clients who at times needed legislation for their business and I have appeared in their behalf simply in the course of my work as counsel."

"It never has been a secret that I have appeared before legislative committees. I suppose that the Democratic national committee is about the only agency that didn't learn about it, until this late day. I talked about this phase of my work all through my campaign, and I think if the Democratic national committee will refer to my campaign speeches it will find more information on this than it already has."

"I suppose that they are proceeding on the theory that a man who knows anything about a given subject should not be named on a senate committee to study that subject," concluded Senator Hebert.

"Carried to its logical conclusion, that theory would bar from service on the bench any man who knows anything about law."

New Police Squad Car Put Into Duty Sunday

Appleton's new police squad car was put into service last night. The car recently was purchased by the common council on recommendation of the fire and police commission.

The machine is equipped with a saved-off shot gun, tear gas bombs, and tear gas cartridges for use in a regular revolver. Officers Earl Thomas and George Behrendt were in the car last night, going on duty at 9 o'clock and remaining at work until 6 o'clock this morning.

Police Chief George T. Prim said the same hours would be followed regularly every night, and that the machine would be kept at the police station during the day for emergency use. The same officers are expected to be assigned to the work regularly.

It will be their duty, the chief said, to patrol the residential, business and manufacturing sections of the city, supplementing the work of the regular patrolmen. The machine is equipped with searchlights which are used when the officers make running inspections of stores and factories.

The officers also will aid the motorcycle policemen in enforcing traffic regulations. The additional service is expected to furnish the city with a much needed supplementary police service, the chief said.

Employment of children in North Carolina industry has decreased 50 per cent in eight years.

RECOVER CAR STOLEN ON N. APPLETON-ST

ORATORS MUST PAY ATTENTION TO TIME LIMIT

Construction Differs from That of Longer
Orations

With the approach of the Appleton Post-Crescent oratorical contest Friday night, April 10, Appleton high school participants are urged to give special attention to the time limit on their orations.

The six minute speech, contrasted with a longer oration, should follow a somewhat different arrangement of ideas, according to Randolph Leigh, Washington, director general of the contest in the United States. "The contest last year," Mr. Leigh said, "was a success because of the effectiveness of good, vivid, terse language, and the fullness of unambiguously constructed sentences. In the first place, there must be greater effort than ever to make a vivid presentation of ideas. The sentences and words must be shorter, in order to secure the maximum result within the short time allotted to the speaker."

Can't Afford Lag
"Above all, there must be no lag in so brief a performance as a six minute speech. The speaker must mount swiftly and surely to his climax, without giving an outward appearance of striving to do that. His thought must be swift without being the least bit hurried."

In illustration of these salient points for the six-minute speeches, is the oration in part of Miss Gheen, a student of Appleton high school, winner of the nation finals. Her speech subject was "Our Attitudes, As Citizens, Toward the Constitution."

"When we as citizens of tomorrow, view in retrospective the achievements of our fathers of yesterday, our attitude is one of veneration. Figuratively we stand at attention; bare-headed, as it were, with heart and hand uplifted in our allegiance to this many-sided document created in the morning of our national life for the betterment of humanity. And with the questioning of youth, we wonder what was the force or motive power that enabled these patriots, amidst circumstances that tried their very souls, to conceive and develop the most illuminating instrument of government ever created in the history of the world—the Constitution of the United States. I fancy the immortal words of George Washington—"The event is in God's hands"—indicate from whom this group of men received their inspiration for this epochal work. Upon them was bestowed a vision of such breadth that this document of government was not limited to the problems of a small, isolated nation, but has been the guide of America's progress, until today she is morally, spiritually, and commercially the center of the spotlight of the world."

Develops Theme
From this introduction this high school girl developed the historical theme of the Constitution, mentioning the various privileges the Constitution has given in the history of the world—the Constitution of the United States. I fancy the immortal words of George Washington—"The event is in God's hands"—indicate from whom this group of men received their inspiration for this epochal work. Upon them was bestowed a vision of such breadth that this document of government was not limited to the problems of a small, isolated nation, but has been the guide of America's progress, until today she is morally, spiritually, and commercially the center of the spotlight of the world."

"By virtue of our Constitution, our individual avenue to self-government is the franchise," Luke St. Paul of old, we appreciate our birthright. To feel the challenge of it! Shall we not dedicate our energies, our purse, all to a fuller expansion of our Government, believing that this inexhaustible bulwark of power shall withstand much, even our criticism, provided it is constructive in its intention? We know that any government is but reflective of its people. When we lower our attitude, then all our Government weaken and decline. Never fear, our Constitution shall endure!"

"America is youth; vibrant, masterful, and with a vision says one able writer. We pay homage to such Americans as Washington, Madison, Franklin, and Hamilton, because this institution of their making with less than five thousand words carries the torch of truth and because it is peculiar to our national character as symbolized in Nesbitt in 'You Flag and My Flag'."

The use of quotations is one of the important rules in the contest, disqualifying a student if they are not credited to the proper author. This includes speaking as well as in the written manuscript. Other rules which may not be overlooked are the length of statement, the age requirement, and the subject matter. Every oration must consider the Constitution in some phase. An eligibility statement must be presented by each contestant, signed by the student, his principal, and either his history or English teacher. The age requirement is clearly stated that the student must not have been born prior to Feb. 1, 1912. Students taking postgraduate work, even though within the age limit, are not eligible for the contest.

RAILROAD MEN POSTED ON SAFETY MEASURES

With the approach of the annual tourist season, which brings highway travel to a maximum, employees of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Co. throughout the country are being posted with safety measures, according to W. B. Basing, Appleton agent, who has received a list of safety instructions from the office of S. B. Niles, Chicago, general manager. Within the next few weeks all signals on railroad crossings are to be inspected by railroad officials to see that they are in perfect working order. Other measures which tend to eliminate accidents also will be put into force.

ISSUE WARNING ON USE OF NAPHTHA AND GAS FOR CLEANING

Commission Points to Grave
Dangers Which Exist
When Fluid Is Used

A bulletin, issued this week by the Wisconsin Industrial Commission, calls attention of the people to the hazards connected with the ever-increasing use of gasoline and naphtha for many purposes. Fire Chief George P. McGillan, who received the bulletin, said he heartily endorses all of the warnings and cautions which the commission points out.

The bulletin says: "There is nothing new in naphtha and gasoline deaths and accidents. The same old, careless stunts send people to their graves and disfigure many more for life. The men using a lighted match to look for a gas leak, or how much gas there is in the auto tank, or to investigate trouble at compressed gas cylinders, are using a very dangerous fluid, called naphtha or gas, in a tub of gasoline in the boiler room or near other fires."

Ladies are no more original. They still clean clothes and fabrics in an open dish pan or naphtha or gasoline in the kitchen or basement laundry with a stove, gas, or open light near by, or rub silks and wools until the generated, static spark explodes the dangerous fumes. Often small, innocent children are also victims of their mother's or sister's careless acts.

"Manufacturers, at least, show more originality, if not more wisdom and sense of home safety. An Eastern manufacturer advertises home dry cleaning machines, popularly priced at between $5 and $15. Although dry cleaning is being done at a reasonable price, by licensed cleaners, in this state, these machines may find a ready market in many of our homes. This manufacturer advocates and sells a safe cleaning fluid for use in these machines, at $1.80 per gallon. As the capacity of the machine is three gallons the full charge of cleaning fluid would be $5.40. In the cleaning process, settling and filtration after cleaning, a portion of this liquid is lost each time and must be replaced. The manufacturer wants his liquid used, made up in large part of carbon tetrachloride; but it requires no great stretch of imagination, to see the frugal, careless housekeeper turn to substitutes when her first supply of cleaning fluid, bought with the machine, is gone. This substitute may be naphtha or gasoline, which she can purchase at home for about 20 cents a gallon and the 60 cent charge, plus the slightest carelessness, will be plenty to move houses, heaves and funeral corteges. One gallon of gasoline propels a truck several miles, and when vaporized and mixed with air has substantially the same explosive force as 83 pounds of dynamite."

"The advertisement contains no caution against such substitution, nor do they advise cleaning in a well ventilated place, free from all possibilities of ignition."

"The state legislature, realizing the danger to employees and property in regular dry cleaning plants, arising from the use of naphtha or gasoline, passed a law requiring such plants to be of fireproof construction throughout, with electric switches, fuses, cut-outs and all

Eighteen County Boys Going To C. M. T. Camps

Appleton boys who want to spend 20 days living the life of a soldier, roughing it with other boys and having a lot of fun at a Citizen's Military Training camp, had better act quickly and get their applications in, according to Lieut. Raymond P. Dohr, county C. M. T. C. chairman.

Reports from Milwaukee reveal that 18 applications already have been received from Outagamie County boys for C. M. T. training. The county quota this year is 26 boys.

Nine Kaukauna youths already have filed their applications for training and most of the boys are going to camp for the second time, indicating they enjoyed themselves last year. Six Appleton youths have signed up.

Boys who have filed applications for camp this year are Alfred F. Nicholas Bartsch, 919 Lawrence-st., Kaukauna; C. Biersteker, Little Chute; Richard N. Eslein, 217 Doty-st., Kaukauna; Luther F. Grebe, 317 Depot-st., Kaukauna; Andrew A. Heilmann, 403 N. Bennett-st., Appleton; Jerome J. Marete, 327 N. Division-st., Appleton.

Robert G. Mayer, 134 E. Second-st., Kaukauna; Edward J. Mislinski, 714 Grignon-st., Kaukauna; William J. Nelson, 215 Maria-st., Kaukauna; Robert C. O'Boyle, 129 Doty-st., Kaukauna; Howard F. Rader, 109 Third-st., Kaukauna; Raymond F. Scheffert, Main-st., Kimberly; 148-other sources of fire or sparks outside the cleaning room, also requiring efficient steam and chemical fire protection. With all these safeguards the best professional cleaners now use a safer cleaning fluid, popularly known as "Stoddard's Solvent" instead of the death-dealing naphtha or gasoline.

"With none of these safeguards present, it is folly to use naphtha or gasoline for cleaning in the home."

April 1 Deadline
Members of the Outagamie county committee have set April 1 as the date when they will have forwarded all 26 applications allotted the county to state headquarters.

Any Outagamie youth who wants to attend one of the various C. M. T. camps should get his application in as soon as possible. Boys annually are refused admission to camps because their applications are received late or because some feature of the application which involves correspondence causes time to drag with the result that the application finally is turned down.

Boys attending camps receive clothing and equipment and work a few hours daily. The remainder of the time is devoted to play and entertainment.

Appleton youths wishing information about camp should call on Lieut. Dohr, 115 W. College Ave. or see any of the regular army or national guard officers at Army G. The following members of the county committee: Capt. Clyde P. Schroeder, commanding Co. D, 127th Infantry, Appleton; Capt. Olin Dryer, principal Kaukauna high school; Lieut. W. A. Spentbreaker, army G, Appleton; Lieut. Gordon R. McIntyre at the Post-Crescent, Appleton; Herbert H. Heible, principal of the Appleton High school, and Coach Joseph R. Shields of Appleton high school.

STREET DEPARTMENT REPAIRS EQUIPMENT

Expects to Launch Spring
"Clean Up" Program
Within Next Few Days

Equipment of the Appleton street department is being put into shape for the annual spring cleanup and opening of the 1931 season of road repairing and construction, according to T. W. Albrecht, street commissioner.

Approximately 20 men are being kept busy repairing machinery and other equipment for the spring work.

If spring weather prevails during the next few days, the first part of this week will see the street flushers at work on College-ave and other paved streets, he stated. The street flushing started their work early last week, but snow put a stop to these activities.

A crew of men will probably start cleaning manholes about April 1, Mr. Albrecht said. The manholes are cleaned twice a year, once in spring and again in the fall.

No definite program has been outlined yet for the summer. Repairing of unpaved streets in the city will get underway as soon as all of the frost is out of the ground, and

BUREAU DISCOURAGES ADVERTISING PLANS

Agents soliciting retailers in various sections of the country for National Advertisers have offered a so-called "business stimulating" plan, which is now being discouraged by the National Better Business bureau, according to word received here by Kenneth Corbett, chamber of commerce secretary. According to retail druggists, photographers and other merchants who have been complainants to the bureau, agents told them that National Advertisers are handling a special advertising proposition for the Agfa Ansco Corporation to increase the sale of Agfa Ansco films. The Agfa Ansco Corporation states that National Advertisers is not connected with them in any way, according to word received here.

Offer Six Weeks Course In Landscape Design To Home Owners

BRING FAMOUS EXPERT HERE TO TEACH CLASSES

Launch Campaign to Encourage Beautification of Home Grounds

A six weeks course in landscape design for home owners, consisting of six illustrated lectures on six successive Monday evenings starting March 30, is offered the people of Appleton and neighboring communities through the cooperation of the Appleton Post-Crescent, Appleton Vocational school and the Extension division of the University of Wisconsin. The lectures will be given in the Appleton Vocational school auditorium.

Dr. Franz Aust, associate professor of landscape design of the University of Wisconsin, considered the outstanding home landscape artist of the middle west, has been secured to give the lectures. At each meeting the will be an opportunity to ask questions about one's individual problems.

Because of the cooperation of the Post-Crescent with the Vocational school and the Extension division the six weeks course is offered at the nominal enrollment fee of $1 per person. Ordinarily the enrollment fee is much higher but it is believed a sufficient number of persons will be interested here to keep the cost within the reach of everyone. The operating agencies absorb any losses involved in the course. Every home owner interested in improving the appearance of his property is urged to fill out the enrollment blank printed herewith and return it at once to the Landscape Editor of the Appleton-Crescent. An enrollment card will be sent immediately upon receipt of the application blank.

The purpose of the course will be to encourage beautification of home grounds and to offer practical suggestions for improvement of individual properties. The lessons will be profusely illustrated with stereoscopic pictures, sketch plans designs and home planting plans. Every lesson will be made as practical as possible so that each person attending will be able to apply it to his individual property.

The course is open to every one. Residents of neighboring towns and cities, as well as Appleton residents. Dr. Aust has just finished a highly successful course at LaCrosse, and has engagements in other Wisconsin cities. He is thoroughly familiar not only with the theory and practice of home landscape design but also with planting conditions all over Wisconsin.

Home owners who wish to take advantage of this opportunity for practical instruction are urged to fill out and return the enrollment blank as soon as possible.

CLOSE 1931 SAFETY SCHOOL WITH PARTY

Plans for a "smile party," which will mark the close of the 1931 Appleton Safety school, are nearing completion, according to Herb Heilig, vocational school director. The party is to be held Tuesday evening, April 7, but the place has not yet been designated.

The program will open with musical specialties offered by George Nixon on his musical saw and Hawaiian guitar. Mrs. Bertha Barry will give several humorous readings. Matthew Drees, Chicago magician, also will appear on the program.

A dancing party will be held from 9:30 to 12 o'clock.

BAND WILL PLAY SACRED CONCERT

Program Started Several Years Ago Attract Season's Largest Crowd

The annual sacred music concert by the 120th field artillery band will be played Tuesday evening at Lawrence Memorial chapel, according to Edward F. Mumum, director. Started several years ago at the request of Appleton church leaders, the concert always attracts large crowds. The concert will open with "Hallelujah Chorus" from the "Messiah" by G. F. Handel. A baritone solo, "The Holy City" will be the second number on the program. Soloist will be Neil Given, Appleton. The tone poem, "Adoration" will open the second half of the program.

The complete program which will begin at 8:15 follows:

"Hallelujah Chorus" from the Messiah G. F. Handel

"The Holy City" (baritone solo) Neil Given

2 BANDITS GET $9,000 AT BANK IN TENNESSEE

Nashville, Tenn.—(AP)—Two masked men held up the teller of the Centennial Park branch of the American National bank today and took approximately $9,000.

The robbers had gained entrance to the bank some time during the night. When the janitor appeared they held him captive until J. W. Stone, the teller, arrived.

At the point of pistols Stone was forced to open the vault. The robbers took as much cash as they could find and fled in an automobile.

Many Men Seek Jobs as Work Starts on Post Office

Many unemployed men appeared at the corner of N. Superior and W. Washington-sts this morning in quest of work as ground was broken for Appleton's new postoffice. Only a few men were hired, however. A full crew will not be employed until the excavation has been completed. This work will require from a week to 10 days, it is estimated.

FIND MOTORISTS GET SHORT WEIGHT AT GAS STATIONS

Wisconsin motorists lose $2,200,000 every year as a result of "short measure" deliveries at gasoline filling stations throughout the state, it is estimated by George D. Gilman, inspector for the state department of weights and markets. Mr. Gilman lives at 841 W. Fifth-st., Appleton, but his duties take him to every section of the state.

Mr. Gilman said he found that 25 per cent of the total number of stations in Wisconsin cities, which he recently investigated, were violating the law in the amount of gasoline delivered on purchases. He estimated, using as a basis the 448,905,600 gallons of gasoline used in the state last year and the loss at 20 cubic inches on three gallons that the loss would be well in excess of $2,200,000.

DEATHS

MISS NORA BROWN
Miss Nora Brown, 54, 431 E. Maple-st., died Sunday morning after a long illness. Survivors are three brothers, Richard, Duluth, Minn., Patrick, Ashland, and James, Chippewa Falls, and one sister, Catherine, Appleton. She was a member of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin of St. Mary church and of the Third Order of St. Francis. Prayer services will be held at 7:30 Monday and Tuesday evenings at the new Wichmann funeral home, corner of Superior and Franklin-sts. The funeral will be held from the funeral home at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, with services at 8:30 at St. Mary church. Burial will be in St. Mary cemetery.

WILLIAM PARISH
William Parish, 74, died at 5 o'clock Saturday morning at the Parish farm in Lind. He was born in Waupaca and had lived at Lind since his marriage 50 years ago to Miss Ada Cornwell, Waupaca. Mr. and Mrs. Parish would have celebrated their golden wedding anniversary this month.

Survivors were the widow; three daughters, Mrs. Perry, Crystall Lake; Mrs. Perry, Crystall Lake; Mrs. Reed Wild, Lind; one son, David Parish, Lind; and a sister, Mrs. Glennie Stetson, Waupaca. Services were held from the home at 2 o'clock this afternoon with the Rev. E. T. Soper, Waupaca First Methodist church, in charge. Burial was in Lind cemetery.

START EXCAVATION FOR APPLETON'S NEW POST OFFICE

More Than 100 Men Seek Jobs as Building Operations Begin

Ground was broken this morning for Appleton's new $200,000 post office. Excavation of the basement was started under direction of R. W. Scott, secretary of the Tapscott Construction company of Albert Lea, Minn., who is in the city to take charge of building operations. As soon as the work is progressing favorably Mr. Scott will leave, and the work will be conducted by a superintendent, James Thompson.

While between 10 and 15 men were needed this morning there were more than 100 men at the corner of W. Washington and N. Superior-sts when operations started. They were all seeking jobs but most of them went away disappointed. Mr. Scott has estimated that there will be between 40 and 50 men employed on the building when operations reach their height. It is not expected that this number of men will be needed however, for some time. The excavating work has been subcontracted by the Tapscott company to the Grunke Construction company, which has started its operations. Mr. Scott said the excavating probably would take from a week to 10 days.

RACINE WOMAN DIES IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Racine—(AP)—Mrs. Henry Oswald, 42, was fatally injured early Sunday when the automobile in which she was riding collided at an intersection with that driven by Gustav Lindstrom, 20, Kenosha.

Lindstrom was arrested for reckless driving but was released on temporary bail of $50. Police said he ran through an arterial highway.

Mrs. John Waring, Racine, a passenger in the Oswald car, suffered slight injuries. Miss Anne White, 19, Racine, and George Revelle, 17, Seattle, Wash., passengers in Lindstrom's car, suffered minor hurts.

BUILDING PERMITS

Though showing a great improvement over the last few months, building permits issued last week by John N. Weiland, building inspector, fell almost $40,000 below the total for the same period in 1930. Ten permits last week totaled $14,650, while 12 in 1930 aggregated $58,200. Included in the latter total were permits for a $16,000 residence, and the Firestone filling station, valued at $30,000.

TRADE ACCORD BRINGS QUIZ BY THREE NATIONS

Customs Union Open to Other European Powers, Austria Replies

tion and consequently a possible threat against European conciliation.

Government officials, however, emphasize that Germany and Austria had merely reached an agreement to make a treaty but the treaty itself has not yet been negotiated. They said that the representation made by the powers at Vienna was entirely friendly and not in the nature of a threat.

OPEN TO OTHER POWERS

Vienna—(AP)—Austria today answered protests against her proposed customs union with Germany with an invitation to other European countries to join them in an abolition of customs barriers.

A formal protest by diplomatic representatives of France, Italy, and Czechoslovakia drew from Dr. Johann Schober, foreign minister and vice-chancellor, the word that Germany and Austria had no intention of concluding any treaty which excluded the other powers.

On the contrary, he said, both have invited any other European state—all European states—to join the projected customs union, so as gradually to extend it to embrace all European countries.

He declared also that Austria felt more encouraged to embark on the customs arrangement with Germany since she was conscious that the plan had the approval both of Aristide Briand, French foreign minister and author of an ambitious Pan-European scheme, and of the league of nations.

The protest of the three countries against the customs union project, which they based upon an allegation that the union would impair and compromise Austria's pledged independence, aroused considerable bitterness in this country. The comment was made that it had been logical to hope that any honest effort to overcome the economic depression of European states, no matter by whom inaugurated, would receive encouragement.

Official information of the contemplated union took the Austrian comment world entirely by surprise since Germany's position was an element greatly feared in Austria. Fears have been somewhat allayed by information that existing duties on Austrian weak industrial products will remain in force for many years. The union is described as only a nominal one designed to stimulate neighboring countries to embark upon so-called regional preferential treaties.

BERLIN ALSO REPLIES

Berlin—(AP)—Government officials in Germany and Austria were busy today answering inquiries of representatives of other European countries about the proposed Austro-German customs union.

Delegations were received by Prime Minister Schober at Vienna and by Foreign Minister Curtius at Berlin. The principal cause for concern given by representatives of other European nations was the possibility that the proposed new accord might be a violation of Austria's independence and contrary to the provisions of post-war treaties and the Geneva protocol.

In Berlin it was said that German and Austrian legal experts were agreed that it would be shown that the new accord violated no existing treaty.

MANY AT OPENING OF FUNERAL HOME

"Approximately 8,000 persons attended the formal opening of the new Wichmann funeral home at the intersection of Franklin and N. Superior-sts. Saturday morning, according to officials of the home. The home was open for public inspection from 10 o'clock Saturday and Sunday mornings until 10 o'clock in the evening. An organ program was given both days by LaVahn Russell, Russell Wichmann and Francis Proctor, all of Lawrence Conservatory of Music. Funeral directors and manufacturers from throughout Wisconsin, Illinois and Upper Michigan attended the opening or sent floral tributes.

Miss Kathleen McCarey spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wetman, Green Bay.

BAD STOMACH CAUSE OF BAD SKIN

You can't expect to have a good clear fresh-looking complexion if your stomach is weak and disordered. Undigested food sends poisons through your whole body, pimples appear in your face, skin grows slow and muddy and loses its color. Your tongue becomes coated, breath most unpleasant. Just a tablespoonful before each meal stimulates the digestion naturally so that you can eat what you want without fear of distress. And when your stomach is in good shape again see how much keener your appetite is—watch how quickly skin begins to grow free of disgusting eruptions. The cost of Tanlac is less than a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Money back if it doesn't help you.

Solo Violinist

A violinist of exceptional talent is Jack Sampson, one of the three soloists appearing at the Lawrence Memorial chapel Monday evening with the Lawrence conservatory of music after graduating from Chippewa Falls high school. He studies violin with Percy Fullinwider, professor of violin at the conservatory.

JURY FINDS FIRM ISN'T LIABLE IN SUIT OVER CRASH

Appleton Company Gets Verdict in Damage Case in Court at Chilton

A jury in circuit court at Chilton Saturday afternoon, after almost six hours of deliberation, returned a verdict finding that neither Edwin Jennerjohn, driver nor the Wisconsin Distributing company, owners of a truck which figured in a collision at Chilton on Feb. 25, 1930, were liable for damages as a result of the crash. Suit had been started against the Wisconsin Distributing company by Harry Leppia of Leppia's Corners, Outagamie-co., and William Lemke, Chilton. Leppia asked damages of $7,000 and Lemke sought $2,000.

The accident occurred at the corner of Madison and Grand-sts. in Chilton. It was the contention of the plaintiffs that the driver of the truck was negligent. The jury found that the accident was unavoidable, and that neither of the participants were responsible for damages. Leppia's car was demolished and both he and Lemke were injured.

The case opened three days ago before Judge Fred Beginger and went to the jury at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

RAIN, SNOW ON MENU FOR NEXT 24 HOURS

Rain or snow will fall here Monday night and Tuesday, if predictions of the weatherman for the next 24 hours materialize. Snow has been predicted for the northern portions of the state.

Wind and clouds are shifting in the east and south-east, a good indication that wet weather is on the way. Ideal weather prevailed over the weekend and Monday, with moderate temperatures recorded.

At 6 o'clock Monday morning the mercury registered 22 degrees above zero, while at noon it registered 42 degrees.

THREE SOLOISTS WITH GLEE CLUB AT HOME CONCERT

Lawrence College Organization Appears at Chapel Tonight

Three soloists of unusual talent will appear with the Lawrence college glee club in its home concert at the chapel Monday evening. Jack Sampson, a violinist who has appeared on a number of programs in Appleton this winter, will play several solos. Marshall Munhart, baritone from the Methodist church quartet, will sing, and Russell Danburg, well-known concert pianist, will play a selection by Tansman besides accompanying the glee club in its chorus numbers.

Mr. Sampson, a student of Percy Fullinwider, professor of violin at the conservatory of music, displays excellent technique, poise and charm, and has a winning stage presence. Last summer he made several concert appearances at Epworth Heights, summer colony near Ludington, Mich.

Mr. Munhart, who studies with Dean Carl J. Waterman, has come into the public eye this winter through his vocal work at the Methodist church and through a number of solo appearances on special programs. He possesses a lovely baritone voice with excellent range and control. He was graduated from Lawrence college several years ago, returning to study at the Conservatory this fall, after teaching at Wausau.

Mr. Danburg, a pupil of Gladys Ives Brainard, is a pianist of rare ability and a veteran with the Lawrence club. In his home state he was the winner of numerous state prizes for pianistic excellence. This is his third season as piano soloist.

60 Feet of Sheds Removed Along Memorial-dr Frontage

With the removal of 60 feet of sheds along a 170-foot frontage on Memorial-dr, preliminary work on the new filling and service station to be erected by John Haus and Son at the corner of Memorial-dr and College-ave was started Monday morning.

The new building, completely modern in structure and equipment, will be of light face brick trimmed with cut stone, with a roof of colored tile. A wall of the same materials will shut off the view of the old sheds in the rear.

The structure will be centrally located on the 170-foot Memorial-dr frontage, thus opening the view to the railroad tracks from Memorial-dr. The building will be 84 feet from the tracks.

There will be a pump house in the rear, and five storage tanks will be buried beneath the surface of the ground.

The new station will include office, rest rooms, two automatic lifts, a wash rack, and electric gas jumps. LaVio and Gmeiner are the architects and engineers, and Pat Miron has the general contract for building. Electric, heating and plumbing contracts have not been awarded as yet.

WATER COMMISSION TO REVIEW REPORTS

City water commission will meet at a 6:30 dinner Monday evening at Hotel Northern. The annual audit of the commission's books will be reviewed and 1930 reports discussed. Plans for the coming year also will be discussed.

HEAVY HAND OF LAW FALLS ON CHICAGO "FOES"

William Neimoth Convicted for Payroll Robbery in Baltimore

Chicago—(AP)—The law appears to be tightening its grip on Chicago's "public enemies."

One by one the men so classified by the authorities have been stacking their wits against the agencies of the law and have lost.

The latest to feel the attack is William Neimoth, whose conviction for participation in a $47,000 payroll robbery in Baltimore in 1928, has been upheld by the court of appeals at Annapolis. Neimoth was sentenced to ten years. Attorneys said his chances for a rehearing were slim. Neimoth's apparent failure to escape punishment followed closely the conviction of No. 1 on the list of 28 enemies—Alphonse Capone, who was sentenced to six months for contempt of federal court in Chicago. The charge grew out of his failure to respond to a summons from the grand jury which was investigating incomes. He is trying to avoid the penalty by an appeal.

Meanwhile Chicago police said they would not be surprised to see a new flareup of gangland guns as a result of the slaying Saturday night of Johnny Genaro, known as a Capone henchman and a brother of Joseph "Pepe" Genaro, a "public enemy." They said they believed a quarrel between the Genaro brothers and Jimmy Boicastro and Rocco Randelli, also "public enemies," was responsible.

Two on the original list have been killed—Joe Aiello, north side gang leader, who walked into a machine gun ambush last fall and Jack Zuta, slain last August at Delafield, Wis., a month after he had been questioned in connection with slaying of Alfred Lingale, the Tribune reporter. All of the public enemies have been the subject of an attack by local authorities as vagrants, while federal officials have used the income tax law and deportation and contempt proceedings as their weapons. Capone's vagrancy case is still pending. The status of the other public enemies today was:

Alphonse Capone, brother of Alphonse—facing three years for income tax evasion.

James "Pope" Voepke—fighting deportation, with pension granted pending an appeal.

Frankie Rio, a Capone bodyguard—serving jail sentence for carrying concealed weapons, contempt of court and vagrancy.

Jack Demore, also known as "Machine Gun" Jack McGurn—facing vagrancy charge.

Jack Guzik, Capone henchman—facing three years for income tax evasion. He is appealing.

James "Pope" Samuels—serving life term at Joliet, Ill., for murder after a parole violation.

George "Red" Barker—serving long prison term as a parole violator. William "Three Fingers" Jack White—under 14 year sentence following recent conviction of slaying a policeman.

Danny Stanton—charged with slaying Jack Zuta at Delafield. Joe Scitis, former south side "beer bar" whom the state failed to convict as a vagrant.

Frankie Lake and Terrence Drugang—both pleaded guilty to income tax violations with reservations pending outcome of Guzik's case.

The others who have escaped the limelight of publicity in recent activities are "Dago" Lawrence Mangano; Frank Diamond, fugitive on concealed weapon charge; George "Bugs" Moran, acquitted of vagrancy at Milwaukee, Ill.; Frank and Vincent McElane, reputedly identified with the south side beer business; Leo Mongoven, Moran henchman, whose whereabouts are unknown; William and Miles O'Donnell, alleged west side beer men.

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU

"ARIES"

If March 23rd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to noon, from 4:15 p. m. to 6:20 p. m. and from 8:15 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger hours are from 7:45 a. m. to 8:15 a. m. and from 7:45 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.

The astrological signs of March 23rd present very encouraging features and augur well for new enterprise and fresh endeavor. It is eminently an occasion on which you can look forward, and turn your back on the past. Look out for some unexpected opportunity.

A child born on this March 23rd will be observing, learn quickly, and be able to do what it has seen others do. Its ideas will lack originality. Its imitative powers will be very marked. It will be adaptable, amiable and honest. Its nature will be affectionate.

You, if born on March 23rd, are rather a sad sort of person. Your turn of mind is rather sombre and melancholy. You take yourself and the world too seriously. You should strive to get the dark clouds out of your vision, and learn to look, mentally, in the sunshine. Every one has his or her troubles, and yours are no worse than those of others. Harping on worry only accentuates, and does not ameliorate, it. Look on the bright side, and quit "grousing."

If in business you should confine your attention to its daily routine. Your dreams of success—and you do sometimes dream—cannot come true, as you lack the optimism which is needed to carry them through, and convert them into realities. You should never gamble or take a chance, as, though the prize may be a large one, the anxiety you would endure during the waiting process would cause you incalculable mental harm.

You are very conscientious and law abiding. There is a pro-

FIND MANY INSURANCE "RACKETS" IN STATE

Madison—(AP)—The business depression has brought about an unprecedented number of "insurance rackets" in Wisconsin according to Milton Freedy, insurance commissioner.

As many as 75 letters have been received by the department in one month from persons in all parts of the state requesting information on new insurance societies.

In explaining the many enterprises which are morally illegitimate but which do not come under the control of the insurance department, Mr. Freedy said many cases have been reported where a promoter starts a benefit aid society merely to get the fee of membership.

The promoter, Mr. Freedy said, would advertise that $1,000 would be paid to the estate of any member of the society who died. However, this is contingent upon 1,000 members contributing $1 each and in many cases the relatives of a deceased member would be disappointed to discover that the society had only 200 or 300 members.

A bill is now before the senate to restrict such operators. It was pointed out that as long as the promoters issue only membership cards as a receipt for the "insurance benefit" they are outside the insurance laws. It is the opinion of insurance men, however, that such benefit societies should come under the laws if they advertise insurance benefits.

nounced religious streak in your make-up here, too, you do not contemplate promised rewards but dwell rather on threatened punishments. Your affections are deep-rooted, and your loyalty is unquestioned. You, too, are in every way dependable.

"ARIES"

If March 24th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 2:15 p. m. and from 7:30 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 10 p. m. to 11 p. m.

Astrological influences on this date spell progress and more or less substantial gains will be made in various directions. A silver lining will be revealed in the dense clouds of uncertainty which have been obscuring your vision from the goal of your heart's desire. Troubles which occur will be due to "the other fellow."

The child born on this March 24th will develop into a strong character, in which willpower and consistency of purpose will be prominent traits. A tendency to an exaggerated self-importance should be checked, or conceit will spoil an otherwise likable personality. It will be very ambitious, and a good student.

Were you born on a March 24th? If so, according to your horoscopic picture, you are always looking forward, peering into the future. You are a pioneer of advanced thought. Because of your remarkable foresight, you are seldom caught napping, when opportunities knock at your door. You would achieve more if you were less idealistic and more practical you live in a world of ideas.

You are very self-willed and self-opinionated and it is difficult to restrain you from acting upon impulse when it would be wiser to wait for the development of plans. You are never lacking in zeal, but you are lacking, sometimes, in discretion. Your enthusiasm is so great that it is rarely daunted by obstacles and you will never be a failure through the want of trying. Your will is dominant and your spirit masterful.

You make a splendid companion, being affable, genial and witty. You are never at a loss for a word, and you make an excellent conversationalist. You try to make those around you happy and are never a joy killer. Jealousy sometimes creeps out in your nature and you exact extreme loyalty from others. Those of your type do best in life as organizers, leaders or promoters. Marriage with a Leo individual is advised, it harmonious blend from the union is desired. You, perhaps, need to learn more thoroughly the lessons of "give and take."

PLAN TO GIVE WORKER MORE TAX DEDUCTIONS

Madison—(AP)—Sen. Bernhard Gettelman, Milwaukee, believes nine-tenths of the wage earners, employed in Wisconsin industry, would be exempted from the payment of state income taxes if a bill he introduced this week passes.

His bill would permit workers to deduct traveling expenses to and from work, including street car and bus fares, and meals while at work from their incomes in computing their taxable income.

"These expenses amount to between $200 and $300 a year for every wage earner," Sen. Gettelman says. "Big corporations are permitted to deduct their expenses from income before figuring their taxes. Why shouldn't workers be allowed to do the same thing? The amounts they pay for traveling expenses to and from work and the meals they take away from home are just as much expenses as anything else."

Sen. Gettelman also said he would call on the senate next week to take up a bill providing for a general eight hour day in Wisconsin industry.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists. 15c, 50c and 60c.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. Adv.

A LEAK IN THE DIKE

According to the latest printed annual report of the Wisconsin Commissioner of Banking we have 803 state banks and trust companies within the confines of the state, with aggregate resources of $591,000,000; and 157 national banks with aggregate resources of $527,000,000.

That gives us 960 banks with total resources of $1,118,000,000. Of these about 50 have been taken into the chain but due to the fact that some of them were large banks the chain holdings, when counted in resources, make over $300,000,000 or 27 per cent of all the bank resources of the state.

The only measure now before the legislature attempting to curb chain banking, the Schmiede bill, makes no real pretense of restricting the linking of national banks into a chain. The legislature is not to be blamed for this because it cannot help it. In the hubbub of the last election this essential fact was pointed out in these columns, but politically it was overlooked excepting by Mr. Reis, candidate for attorney-general, who had the ability to understand it, and the frankness to deal with it fairly.

The Schmiede bill prohibits corporations from holding more than 10 per cent of the stock of a state bank, a measure that will defeat chain banking insofar as state banks are concerned.

But there is a loophole through which a five ton truck may be driven.

The present law of Wisconsin permits a state bank to become a national bank at any time upon merely receiving from the comptroller of currency at Washington a certificate, which is issued almost as a matter of course following an examination of the bank's affairs.

Those interested in chain banking are generally persistent. They are going to get more banks if possible. There are many state banks that would make desirable additions to their holdings.

There is nothing to prevent them, after coming to an understanding with a state bank, having that bank petition for the privilege of becoming a national bank. After the change, made as lightly as a magician pulls a card from out his sleeve, the process of joining the chain may be completed.

The legislature should enact a law prohibiting a state bank from becoming a national bank without the consent of the state of Wisconsin acting through its banking department. And that consent must not be given without a thorough inquiry into the facts and the ascertainment of a legitimate reason for making the change.

When no good reason for the change appears it should be denied. If consent is given and thereafter such bank within a few years enters a chain the state must reserve the right to annul such consent.

Otherwise the attempt to stop chain banking will be next to worthless, a mere slap on the wrist.

FARM RELIEF IN THE PROGRESSIVE CONFERENCE

Although the Progressive conference adopted resolutions concerning a number of subjects considered, it is a noticeable fact that it made no effort to agree upon a program in relation to farm relief.

That "something is radically wrong" with the President and his administration it declared over and over again. That the Federal Farm board did not function fairly or properly, some of its speakers asserted. But when it came to putting a program of relief down in black and white it hesitated.

Senator Borah who has spent years in working on this subject in the interest of the farmer, and who is one of the really strong men in the senate, declared that he had not made up his mind concerning what program of relief to follow, although he leaned toward the discarded plan of debentures. If a capable man of Mr. Borah's long experience and well known sympathetic tendencies toward farming hesitates as to which road to take, why blame the President for adopting and pursuing some particular policy?

It is expected that eventually a resolution will come from a committee of Progressives concerning a plan to be followed, but when a number of capable men after long study are bewildered concerning the correct procedure, it signifies that there is no just ground for accusing the President of being indifferent to the situation.

After all the remedy adopted must not be worse than the disease.

PRISON RIOTS

The riot at the Illinois penitentiary at Joliet is merely additional proof that the problem involved in directing and controlling the activities of a large number of criminals, confined within one compound, is no child's play.

During the past twelve months there have been a long series of prison riots extending from Kansas and Colorado to New York and Rhode Island. Our prisons are overcrowded. New laws—prohibition, for example—have brought new offenses resulting in a large increase in convictions. On the night of the big fire at the Ohio state penitentiary there were 4,300 men confined in space originally designed for 1,500. Here an incendiary plot to create an opportunity to escape cost the lives of 318 convicts.

The evils of overcrowding are apparent. Facilities are overtaxed, tempers are strained and opportunities for insubordination are multiplied. Wherever there are prisons there are prisoners plotting to escape.

Every prison warden knows that he sits astride a volcano. While many criminals are amenable to rules and regulations, there are also those who have become bitterly antagonistic toward all law and order, and the pent-up emotions of men of this character will cause them to accept the slightest opportunity to start trouble.

It takes an extraordinary leader and an unusual and efficient organization under him to regulate the safety valves of a penitentiary. The problem of control becomes increasingly difficult if there is not complete harmony and cooperation among prison officials and guards. Press reports of the situation at Joliet disclose that the prison chaplain had criticized the prison authorities by making the statement that what the prison needed was a good riot. Such insubordination would serve only to add dynamite to embers already glowing with the ever present discontent of men under confinement.

There can be no maudlin sentiment in the handling of criminals. It is no job for the simple-minded reformer who blames everything on a malevolent social condition. It is of prime importance that convicts be controlled and disciplined. They are there as punishment for infractions of society's laws, and they are getting their deserts. There may be graft, favoritism and unnecessary cruelty on the part of the prison staff, but a situation of this kind should be watched for with gimlet eyes by state officials.

Prison management is a highly technical business. It should have the service of men trained and educated for the purpose. It adds greatly to the complexities of the job that prison capacity and means for keeping prisoners employed and their minds occupied have not kept pace with the increasing number of criminals. This social problem will always be with us and above all things it must be met firmly.

Opinions Of Others

MAJESTY OF THE LAW
In a land where, under Volstead contempt for the laws of man and nature is becoming the true mark of the superman, it is no surprise that popular acceptance should begin receiving judicial sanction.

So Vincent the august jurist, Magistrate Healy, in Fashion Court, Brooklyn, sitting in benign astonishment upon Mr. Joseph Farinaccio, who drove his automobile into a truck, turned it over and kept on going.

"I think, Your Honor," said Farinaccio, "I was drunk. At least I drank a gallon and a half of wine."

Magistrate:—A gallon and a half, man! And now I suppose, you have a large brood of little ones and a terrible hangover and wish for mercy.

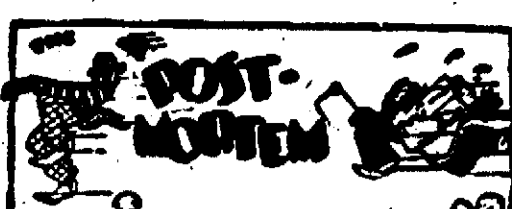

Farinaccio (with proper pride):—No, Your Honor, I have no hangover. I was just drunk, drove recklessly, upset the wagon and ran away—and I haven't a dime.

Magistrate:—You're a wonder! Sentence suspended! A gallon and a half of wine and no hangover!

What man!

What justice!

Majesty is the law!—New York World-Telegram.

THEODORE Dreiser, gent who writes books and plays and things slapped Sinclair Lewis on the face one night last week . . . he would . . . why didn't he poke 'im in the jaw? . . . would have made a much better story . . . yeah, Dreiser weighs about 200 pounds . . . get him in condition and match him up with Primo Carnara . . . yes, dearie, Mr. Dreiser is getting ring minded . . . he slaps . . . probably Lewis will write another Nobel prize winning novel on this basis . . . he told everybody that Theodore had lifted 3,000 words from Mrs. Lewis' novel to write one of his own . . . scratch scratch . . .

Nevada has, in addition to lowering the time limit on divorces, decided to permit open gambling of all types. In the words of the mayor of Reno—

"It's all nonsense, trying to regulate people's morals by law. For eight years I've been trying to make Reno a place where everybody can do what they please—just so they don't interfere with other people's rights."

Also said the mayor, " . . . the boys have got to run these games on the square."

Oh yeah?

. . . Ever try to take a pill with only a drinking fountain to aid you? It takes 3 1-2 gallons of water before you finally get the darned thing down. And you look like a chicken taking a drink.

From Barney the Bum, whose letters get us positively hysterical, comes the query as to when uncle Jonah is to be put into the Who's Who etc. on the opposite page. Don't worry, Barney, they're saving a full page for us on the second Sunday edition in April.

Just because it's Lent, people don't have to come around reminding about all the money we've borrowed.

Even the artists of the air disagree. Heard this "By Special Permission of the Copyright Owners" sung a couple of times the other night. There's one part in it which goes something like this:

"Why the heck (hell) don't you?"

Check your preference. One crooner used the former and the other the latter.

Maybe He Was Right, at That

Down in Hot Springs, Arkansas, a man watched his wife take some practice swings with a golf club.

"That," he said, "is all wrong. Lemme show you how."

He took the club and swung. "Swing like this," he explained. But there wasn't any answer.

The Missus was unconscious on the turf, knocked out by his follow-through swing.

THE DREARY TASK

There never was a task so bleak
But what some man would do it,
And face its horrors week by week,
By hunger driven to it.

When'er a man at work I see,
On tasks where filth is present,
I think how fortunate is he
Who finds his duty pleasant.

I know 'tis not by choice he stands
Knee deep in noxious places;
It is because his need commands
So grim a task he faces.

And so, although I pity him,
His dismal hours of slavery,
I thank him for his service grim
And marvel at his bravery.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Monday, March 26, 1906

The Wisconsin Telephone company had just issued its new directory for Appleton, Neenah, and Menasha. There were 678 telephone listed in Appleton and 912 in the twin cities.

The marriage of Moe Sundheimer and Miss Louise Waldbaum, Yankton, S. D., took place the previous afternoon in Justice Cook's court.

C. J. Van Hook visited friends in Oshkosh the previous afternoon and evening.

Col. N. E. Morgan, Lieut. William H. Zuehlke, and Sergt. Marcus Steinhauer attended the inspection of Co. F, at Oshkosh the previous Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hauert and family were guests of Oshkosh relatives the preceding day.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Adams were at Kaukauna that day, the guests of friends and relatives.

Ralph Lowell and Edward Maley left for Milwaukee the preceding day where they were to be employed in a machine shop.

Clarence Herlick was a guest the previous day of Neenah friends and relatives.

Miss Christina Frieders called on Kaukauna friends the previous afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hopp, Neenah, were guests the day before of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wichman.

TEN YEARS AGO

Monday, March 21, 1921

Application had been filed with the interstate commerce commission of the federal government by the Minneapolis, St. Paul, and Sault Ste. Marie railroad for authority to purchase the property of the Wisconsin and Northern railroad for approximately $3,339,500.

Miss Arlene Edmunds, who was attending Northwestern University, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Edmunds.

Miss Hazel Smith and Miss Olga Smith spent the preceding Saturday in Green Bay.

John McGinnis, who had been attending normal school at Whitewater, was spending his vacation with his parents and friends in Appleton.

Application for a marriage license was made that day by Earl Edmund Sauter, Menasha, and Amelia M. Bauer, Appleton; Harry A. Van Hook and Mary Fischer, Appleton.

Floyd Brice, who had been working at Wisconsin Rapids, had returned home.

Miss Margaret Rottler, a member of the Woodcraft League, took the first swim of the season in the canal the previous day.

H. L. Dawson left the previous Sunday night for Chicago where he was to make an extended business trip.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

ALWAYS GETTING TURNED AROUND

I have been a resident of this city now for several months, complains a reader, and for some reason unknown to me I am continually getting turned around here. That is to say I will be walking down a street seemingly in the right direction and all at once, as the somebody turned me around, I seem to be going in the opposite direction . . . (Miss G. B.)

A very frequent complaint from newcomers to a place, and sometimes they keep on complaining bitterly about it for many years. I don't know what the record may be in this, but perhaps one of our readers who has a long record of this disorientation to his credit, so to speak, will tell us about it. If the contest should develop many remarkable instances maybe we shall give a prize or something.

Stay-at-homes or natives never suffer in this way. Why not? Well, it is very simple. Where we are born and raised or allowed to stay for years and years we unconsciously learn the landmarks of our grazing or stamping ground and we find our way about quite automatically as long as nobody gets funny and moves our salient landmarks about so as to confuse us. It is really remarkable and often laughable what ridiculous mistakes we old timers make when some disguised or removed or reader is advised the young woman who is disoriented to learn to take her bearings from the stars at night and from the sun in the daytime. Star gazing, even in these hectic days, is a delightful evening pastime. If the young lady desires a kindly companion to point out the stars for her, she may leave her telephone number and a recent photograph . . .

Everybody should know how to find the North Star, either from the pointers in the big dipper or from Orion's knee to shoulder line. Once familiar with that, one can never become seriously disoriented at night when any of these beacons is visible. In the day time one should learn by study from season to season and from hour to hour, how to shoot the sun. This, too, becomes almost automatic in time, so that the slightest glance at one's shadow or any shadow immediately gives one a sense of direction, in spite of any preconceived or arbitrary fancy that may pop into the head.

The other night Tony the Irish and I got farther from home than we usually venture on our strolls. The varying curbs, crescents or what where two streets met at a corner, right angles; the same streets some blocks away were parallel. For a moment even Tony seemed confused. But as soon as I glanced up at Orion I saw the trick the streets had played on me, and the slight disorientation was immediately dispelled. I would have been blotted of astronomy I would have been greatly confused. I know.

It is no doubt due to the unconscious habit of fixing upon insecure or too unstable landmarks when one first takes up life in a new place that so many people suffer from disorientation. We should like to hear from our readers about their experiences. I have never heard a good amateur astronomer complain about this trouble.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
What, No Sleep?
Please print the cause of insomnia. I lie awake till all hours, then when time to get up I can sleep. (Mrs. F. W.)

Answer—Many causes may prevent sleep. Send stamped envelope bearing your address, and mention your trouble. If you do not say you have insomnia, no advice will be sent. (What I mean is that I cannot offer such advice except to the individual who has the trouble.) Some correspondents, forgetting that this is a health column, just name a disease or ailment and then wonder why I fail to offer any advice about it. Others are evidently merely indulging a morbid curiosity, and I decline to aid or abet such curiosity.

Thyroidism
I am a woman 23 years old and have two children. I have had thyroidism for four years. Have taken the best cure (six weeks in bed) and that helped me but didn't cure me. I am now taking X-ray treatments. Have had nine but can see no effect. Will X-ray treatments cure goiter? (Mrs. M. C. J.)

Answer—General rest cure, regimen, just such as is so effective in the treatment of tuberculosis, is best. Even if you can't have bed rest there are a great many little elements in your daily life which may be adjusted to give what doctors know as physiological rest—and only your doctor can do this. X-ray treatment is helpful in many cases. Do not seek a cure. Your trouble, like tuberculosis, is arrested, not cured.

Asthma And Hay Fever
For many years I had a mild form of asthma and hay fever which did not keep me from work but made me most uncomfortable. I took your calcium lactate treatment and have obtained extraordinary relief. I would like to try your iodine ration for my general well being. . . . (Mrs. J. S.)

Answer—Any way, calcium lactate is harmless to take, provided it is doesn't upset the stomach. It is evidently beneficial in many cases of asthma, hay fever, migraine, recurring or giant hives. Ten grains may be taken after food, three times daily with a glassful of water, for 60 days. (Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

LET'S feed the pigeons. Clowry cried, as one bird fluttered to his side and then hopped to his shoulder and began to softly coo. "I'll bet that right here, where I stand, I'll make them eat out of my hand. If you are kind to them that's an easy thing to do."

"A good idea," Scouty said. "I'll run and buy a loaf of bread." "Oh, no! Get peanuts," Clowry cried. "And popcorn, if you can. I've fed some pigeons once before. The way they eat will make us roar." "All right," replied Scouty. And off to a store he ran.

When he came back the fun began. The little pigeons flew and ran around the group of Tynmites, all glad to get the share. One bird perched upon Clowry's wrist, who tried to grab him with his fist. Of course this scared the pigeon and it flew up in the air.

The Travel Man, from where he sat upon a bench, said, "Don't do that. That bird thought you would hurt it. Don't scare it. Don't walk or just stand real still. Don't talk or run. That's why birds are kind to them. That's why they come each day."

Soon Clowry shouted, "We've run out of food. They've had enough, no doubt. Let's walk around the streets some more. There's much that we can eat." "You bet there is," another said. "For instance, now, just look ahead. I see some peacocks on a stick. They're funny as can be."

And sure enough a man walked near. Said Clowry, "What's he doing here?" "Just selling peacocks. Can't you see?" the Travel Man replied. The birds were perched upon a stick and they were all blindfolded. Said Scouty, "Clowry, why don't they fly? I guess they like their ride."

Men who think, says a noted physician, are more likely to get sick than those who don't. We've noticed that motorists have been looking rather hoarse lately.

Dr. Einstein, who carried back to Germany five violins presented him as gifts, probably regrets that he didn't study the flute instead.

Caution
There are two keys to that pouch. One is at the state department in Washington; the other at the American embassy in London. Before the pouch is opened, the seal is examined. This provides a double check to make sure that the pouch has not been tampered with.

A different procedure is followed on the continent. There Paris is the distributing point for Europe. Diplomatic mail consigned to the various capitals of Europe is cleared through Paris by couriers.

There are two such couriers operating out of the French capital. And there are three routes they follow. These routes are the northern, which covers the northern part of Europe; the middle, which stretches over the central part of Europe; and the southern, which covers the southern part of Europe. One courier takes care of the northern and middle routes. The other has the southern.

The courier traverses each route once a week, delivering and picking up the diplomatic pouches as they go.

Romance
Diplomatic pouches for the Far East are consigned to the various capitals, and redistributed from there. Pouches for South and Central America are distributed by air mail and steamer. Here attaches at each capital meet the plane or boat to receive the pouches.

There is one diplomatic pouch that goes all around the world. At each point mail is picked up and delivered wherever the vessel stops. These couriers, especially those in Europe, live exciting lives. They travel on the fastest expresses and carry diplomatic passports. They must be ever alert. Their business is to get the pouches to their destination at all costs.

Each pouch means the same to them, for they never know its contents. The same care is given the pouch containing export figures on automobiles as to the one containing diplomatic correspondence that might upset the whole world.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—Carl Laemmle's name means "little lamb" in German.

Texas Guinan has quit her local night club to go to Paris, where they gave Sophie Tucker a great big boo.

Meanwhile the Guinan has been replaced here by Jean Italin, late of the shot-up Abbey club.

A sports writer's nightmare: The six-day bicycle racers grinding round and around a giant saucer. Incidentally, a national magazine turned down the idea of an article on six-day bicycle racing because it was not smart enough. When it was too late, somebody pointed out that Paul Morand, one of the smartest French authors, once wrote a book about it—"Open All Night."

Bowery Touch
Forty-second street is getting more like Broadway, which intersects it, every year.

Now it has a couple of burlesque shows and a crystal gazer in the block once glorified by the Folies. A shooting gallery, the flea circus, orange and tomato juicer, chow melieries, dance halls, army and navy stores, and a face surgeon are among the neighbors.

It will be its own face lifted if it doesn't watch out.

Another World alumnus who made good is Donald Henderson Clarke, novelist and Broadway publicist. He was once so low he put himself in the hands of a psychiatrist and for more than a year commuted between his sanatorium and his job with a motion picture company.

Now he says he is "a tee-totaler, a home-for-dinner-every-nighter, a never-go-outer." He recently sold the movie rights of an unbegun novel for $25,000.

Free Transportation
If you like traveling, it pays to have an undertaker for your friend. When a mortician sends a body to another city, he must buy two railroad tickets.

Often a friend is allowed to use the extra ticket. One traveler who knows about it said it is rarely difficult to arrange for a trip to Chicago or even to the coast. But he hasn't been able to get a trip to Florida. The tickets are too much in demand, except in summer, when he doesn't want to go.

A chain of popular restaurants announces that every occidental language will be spoken by the waitresses in its newest eatery. The diner may order in French, German, Italian, Swedish, Norwegian, Danish, Russian, Polish, Ukrainian, Lithuanian, Armenian, Greek, Turkish, Spanish, Hungarian or Flemish.

But whatever the name, it is still Spanish.

The restaurants featuring dance orchestras have found that love is a business booster. The music of a Leo Reisman or a Guy Lombardo, and not gin, seems to be the commonest stimulant of modern romance.

HENRY'S SPEECH
On March 23, 1775, Patrick Henry, famous American orator and statesman, roused the American delegates to the Provincial Convention with a speech that has come down to us as the greatest piece of oratory of the colonial era.

It was delivered in defense of the resolutions which Henry himself introduced, to organize a militia and to put the colony in an attitude of defense. Its most stirring passage was:

"There is no retreat but in submission and slavery. Our chains are already forged. Their clanking may be heard on the plains of Boston. The next gale that sweeps from the north will bring the clash of resounding arms. Our brethren are already on the field. Why stand we here idle? What is it that gentlemen wish? What would they have? Is life so dear or peace so sweet as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God! I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty or give me death!"

The resolutions were passed unanimously.

SEE PREFERRED STOCKS AS BEST FOR INVESTMENT

Records Show Preferred Issues Have Made Good Comeback

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright 1931, By Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York (CFA)

The buyer for a large investment trust, along with many other dealers in securities, decided in 1929 that they would liquidate all of their holdings of preferred stocks and carry nothing but common stocks. Their argument was that a preferred stock had neither the security of a bond nor the speculative possibilities of a common stock. In other words, it was a misfit in the investment world and not entitled to a great deal of consideration.

The sequel was that they sold their preferred stocks and bought common stocks. In view of their experience they are today again investigating the merits of preferred shares. If they had kept the latter during the past two years they would have suffered comparatively little shrinkage in income and only a moderate amount of depreciation in the principal of their investment. There would have been times when their preferred stocks would have sold much below the purchase prices, especially if they had been taken as new issues in the last few years and brought out in a majority of cases under par.

While the preferreds rallied vigorously from the low levels of November, 1929, they went even lower in the December break last year than they had been the year previous. Today, however, many of them are back to approximately their high quotations of a year ago and in the last few weeks, have shown a better average performance than many domestic corporation bonds.

There are listed on the New York Stock exchange approximately 115,000,000 shares of preferred stocks, or only about one-tenth as many as there are of common stocks shares. Last month the average price of preferred stocks was slightly over $66 a share against $37.50 for common stocks. The highest proportion of preferred shares listed are those of the public utilities which represented about 20 percent of all preferreds, and next those of the railroads. It is in the public utility group, however, that most of the turnover from day to day takes place with a market for these shares on the New York Curb and "over the counter" of even greater size than on the New York stock exchange.

Is Senior Issue

Frequently, and especially among industrial companies, the preferred stock is the senior issue in the capital structure. This is true in the case of General Motors, whose 5 per cent preferred issued last year to replace the old 7 per cent preferred, has just sold above 101. With nearly all of its bonds retired the 7 per cent preferred stocks of the United States Steel corporation is, in effect, its senior security. The longest established of the 7 per cent industrial, as an illustration National Escutcheon 7 per cent preferred, are now quoted to yield from 5 per cent down to 4 1/2 per cent, or less than most of the high grade industrial mortgage bonds.

The recovery in the public utility preferred shares this week has brought some of them above their call prices. This duplicates the situation of two years ago when it was expected that these shares would be refunded into others bearing a lower dividend rate. Among stocks of this type are North American Edison 6 per cent preferred and Public Service Electric and Gas of New Jersey 6 per cent preferred. Columbia Gas and Electric has this week been within 3 point of its call price of 110 and Electric Bond and Share 6 per cent preferred, regarded by many as the premier issue of its kind, has been working toward its call figure of the last few days.

Altogether the attitude of investors toward preferred stocks has undergone a decided change at a time when they are concerned not only with the comparatively high average return on public utility preferred shares but with the element of safety which they present to the buyer of them. According, it is expected that with preferred shares at their present level there will be more inducement to finance with this type of security. Consolidated Gas of New York is soon to lead the way with a large new issue of 5 per cent senior stock.

OPEN BIDS TUESDAY FOR ROUTE 26 PAVING

Bids are to be opened at 10:30 Tuesday morning at the division highway office at Milwaukee for the construction of concrete pavement on Highway 26 in Fond du Lac and Winnebago cos. Completion of this stretch of pavement will furnish a paved route direct from Appleton to Madison, without having to go to Fond du Lac. The work is to be offered in two sections, one 10.069 miles in length and the other 7.044 miles in length. Construction of this section of road will be one of the largest concrete jobs in the state this year. The pavement will extend from Highway 151 north through Rosendale to the Winnebago-co line and will provide a short cut for traffic from the south central section of the state, permitting it to reach Highway 41 without passing through this city.

M. E. Cartier

It is almost four centuries since an ancestor of Maurice E. Cartier, superintendent of the mechanical department of the Post-Crescent first set foot upon the vast unknown of the New World. In 1535, just 100 years before the first white man came into the Fox River valley, old Jacques Cartier entered the straits of Belle Island and took possession of the mainland of Canada in the name of King Francis I of France. It is from this intrepid explorer that Mr. Cartier traces his lineage and some of the characteristics of that old navigator still are discernible in his modern descendant.

Nowhere in the Post-Crescent organization is there greater demand for executive ability, coupled with tact, than in office of mechanical superintendent. Deset on one side by advertising and editorial departments determined to get every last line in the paper and on the other by a ravenous pressroom crew crying for completed pages, he must keep his force operating at high efficiency, speeding up and slowing down as each day's work demands. Linotypers, compositors, make-up men, all engaged in the mechanical work of "getting out the paper" are under his immediate direction.

Mr. Cartier obtained his earliest experiences as an apprentice on the old Gazette in Green Bay where he was born and where his parents still live. His father, Peter Cartier, is a lineal descendant of old Jacques Cartier.

As a youth, Mr. Cartier demonstrated the urge for travel and adventure which impelled his illustrious ancestor to brave the perils of the Atlantic still lurked in him. In company with his father and in later years with his family, he traveled from Winnipeg to the Gulf of Mexico and from New York to the Rockies. Nor has this thirst for adventure left him. He never misses an opportunity for airplane flight and his young son, Maurice, Jr., just turning 7 years, has four or five hours in the air to his credit. After spending three years with the old Gazette as an apprentice and four more years with the consolidated Press and Gazette at Green Bay, Mr. Cartier came to Appleton in 1920 to take charge of the composing room, and as the paper expanded he took over the duties of superintendent of the composing room.

Mr. and Mrs. Cartier live in their own home at 1326 W. Lawrence-st., where they can be found except when they are engaged in motorboating, golfing or fishing. Mr. and Mrs. Cartier enjoy the same sports and spend much of their leisure time together in pursuit of the diversions.

During a year of the World war Mr. Cartier was stationed at Camp Johnston, Florida, with a Motor Transport company. He is a member of the American legion and also of the Masonic lodge. When the Wisconsin Composing Room Executives association was organized Mr. Cartier was elected its secretary and has held that office ever since.

DIVERSIFY YOUR STOCK HOLDINGS, ADVISES EXPERT

Some Groups Will Lag and Others Will Forge Ahead. Hughes Says

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
(Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press)
(Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of articles discussing the applications of investment principles to present day conditions in business and in securities.)

New York — If we admit that the time is propitious for investment in common stocks to be held over a term of years we still have the difficult problem of deciding what particular issues to buy. Recovery after every period of depression is certain but no one knows when it will come and that recovery is never uniform. There are always some groups that lag behind and some enterprises that are so badly crippled that they never come back, or at least to their former peak of prosperity. There is no way of being absolutely sure as to which class or which specific corporation will prove the most satisfactory medium.

Hence the need for diversification. Doubtless the safest procedure is to take the leading units in the most essential industries. Here again we are confronted with the necessity of determining just what an essential industry is. The question would be answered differently today from what it would have been after the depression of 1893, the last preceding trade reaction comparable to the present one. Looking backward we can see that then it was the railroads that had the brightest prospects. If the choice had been made in 1921 the best results would have been reached by taking the utilities.

Perhaps it is the industrialists that offer the best opportunity now, and yet there is enough doubt about the matter to make for considerable risk. Even among the industrialists there is so large a variety of activities represented that the situation is still further confused. Not so long ago it would have been said that the producers of raw materials were in cereal in soups? Yes!

JUST sprinkle in some Kellogg's Rice Krispies next time you have soup. Adds the flavor of toasted rice. Delicious!

Rice Krispies are the "different" cereal. So crisp they crackle in milk or cream. Wonderful for breakfast, lunch or supper. Order a red-and-green package. At grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

PICTURES TAKEN THREE MILES UP AID CROP CENSUS

Los Angeles—(P)—For crop reporting an airplane is used by Harold J. Ryan, Los Angeles county agricultural commissioner.

Pictures made at a height of nearly three miles are used to check and supplement work of his crop reporters on the ground. The resulting records are used to compile estimates of crop production and making farm-price averages.

"Under the common system of collection, acreage records that are even reasonably correct are hard to obtain in diversified farming areas without an actual farm census," explains K. L. Wolff, Ryan's assistant.

the strongest position over the longer period, but today there is a glut of raw materials and the profits go to the manufacturer of the finished goods. Therefore it is plain that whatever course is taken some speculation is involved.

A census usually is both slow and costly.

"It is not possible for district inspectors to keep track of all changes caused through planting and removal of trees. Too, the acreage is not always accurately estimated from the roadside.

"Airplane photographs are used to check these records. The size and shape of orchards and vineyards as well as their exact location can be determined by comparing acreage maps and the aerial survey photographs. Even individual trees can be counted.

"The value of this system rests in the time-saving assistance it gives the crop reporter and the accuracy it puts in his figures."

"Important First Aid Item" Says Dallas Woman

first-aid item as bandages or ointment. One never knows when a member of the family will need it—and it certainly is first-aid for constipation,

Dallas, Tex.—"Of all the first-aid items in our family medicine chest," says Miss Irma O'Dea, of this city, "none is more important than the bottle of Pluto Mineral Water. We consider it as important as bandages or ointment. One never knows when a member of the family will need it—and it certainly is first-aid for constipation, because of its ability to relieve quickly."

Pluto Water acts quickly and surely; even in the most severe cases of constipation. And, more than that, it is an effective preventive. A small quantity diluted in plain hot or cold water, each morning upon arising, will keep you regular, and help ward off many serious complaints.

Doctors Recommend It

Doctors everywhere recommend Pluto Mineral Water for constipation, because they know its gentle, insistent flushing action cannot harm delicate tissues, cannot form a habit. Get Pluto Water—bottled at French Lick Springs, Ind.—at your druggist's, or at fountains everywhere.

Gives Talk To Society Of Church

SISTER Edith, Manitowoc, state supervisor for parochial schools of the Franciscan order, was the principal speaker at the breakfast and meeting of the Christian Mothers' society of St. Theresa church Sunday morning at the parish hall after the 8:30 Mass. Her subject was "Safeguarding Our Youth."

The speaker began with the child in the cradle and followed it through its pre-school years to adolescence, bringing out the fact that the first principles are inculcated into the child between infancy and school age. After the child has begun school, Sister Edith stated, his character is subject to remoulding and the good and bad points may be emphasized or minimized. She stressed the need of religious training, civic clubs, and good literature in bringing up children.

Twenty-five new members were admitted into the society at this time. About 165 members were served at breakfast.

Baptist Young People's Union of First Baptist church met Sunday evening at the church with 11 members in attendance. My Responsibility to the Church was led by Clarence Miller. Topics included: I Should Belong, by Frances Barker; My Responsibility to Attend Meetings, by Lucretia Zimmerman; My Responsibility to Serve the Church, by John Spencer; and My Responsibility Financially, by Evelyn Stallman.

An important business meeting of the group will be held at 4 o'clock next Sunday afternoon at the church.

An Intermediate Luther League of Trinity English Lutheran church was organized Sunday afternoon at the church, a constitution was adopted and officers were elected. Officers are Elmer Bosserman, president; Alice Briggs, vice president; Dorothy Schultz, secretary; and Helen Pierre, treasurer. The meetings will be held the third Wednesday of each month, and will be followed by social hours. The meeting Sunday afternoon was led by Florence Nelson, senior superintendent.

The Women's Union of the Congregational church will sponsor its annual Easter supper from 5:30 to 7 o'clock Tuesday evening at the church. The regular meeting of the union will be held at 4 o'clock. The Rev. W. W. Sloan will have charge of the devotional and Dr. H. E. Peabody will discuss current events.

The work of the Home Aid Association will be discussed by Miss Carol Clapp. During the evening an auction of prize packages will be conducted.

Home Life of India will be the topic for discussion at the study meeting to be conducted by Mrs. Harwood Sturtevant Tuesday afternoon at All Saints parish hall. St. Agnes Guild will serve a luncheon at 1 o'clock. Mrs. L. H. Moore will speak on the Hindu Family and Mrs. Charles Seaborn's subject will be Child Marriages in India.

Carlton Werner was the leader at the meeting of Christian Endeavor society of First Reformed church Sunday evening at the church. The topic was the Gospel in a Nutshell. Two new members, Carlton Thiel and Frederick Walters, were received into the society, the latter as an associate member. Sixteen members were present.

The monthly educational meeting of the Senior Olive-branch Lutheran league of Mount Olive Lutheran church will be held in the church parlors at 7:30 Tuesday evening. The topic, "What It Costs To Be A Christian," will be discussed by Howard Smith. Entertainment will be in the form of a Goodwill Air Tour party.

The Men's Council of the Baptist church will sponsor a supper from 5:30 to 7 o'clock Tuesday evening at the church basement. The meal will be served entirely by the men and R. Y. Clark is general chairman. Tickets may be secured from any of the women of the church or at the door. The public is invited to attend.

Miss Isobel Krull and Miss Ruth Rowland were the leaders at the devotional meeting of the Junior and Senior Lutheran Leagues of First English Lutheran church Sunday evening at the church. Ten members were present. Mexican Missions was the topic for discussion.

Gerald Frogner was the leader of the devotional meeting of the Lutheran League of Trinity English Lutheran church Sunday evening in the sub auditorium of the church. The topic was Our Schools in Japan. Supper was served at 5:30.

William Little was the leader at the meeting of Christian Endeavor society of Memorial Presbyterian church Sunday evening at the church. The topic was The Vine and the Branches.

PARTIES

Five tables were in play at the weekly skat tournament Sunday afternoon at Catholic home. Prizes were won by Alex Dedeker and Kenneth Scholl.

Women of Mooseheart Legion will meet their weekly card party at 2:30 Sunday afternoon at Mooseheart lodge and schafkopf will be played.

BUILDING PERMITS FOR WEEK TOTAL $14,660

Two building permits were issued Sunday by John N. Welland, building inspector. They were granted to John Krull, 1215 N. Clark, for a garage, cost $3,000; and to Manteufel, 1215 W. Bluff, for a garage, cost $3,000.

Girl Tells

Camilla Clark, above, 17-year-old school girl, added further details to serious charges that are piling up against wealthy Los Angeles men in the investigation of Hollywood's "love market." She claims to have been one of the victims of the system which provided girl companions to rich men and accused a man who gave his name to her as "Bill Martin."

Party Held By Auxiliary Of Carriers

THE Auxiliary to the National Association of Letter Carriers held a St. Patrick party Saturday evening at Trades and Labor hall. A joint meeting was held and cards followed. Prizes at bridge were won by Mrs. Herbert Christensen and Mrs. L. Shroth, at schafkopf by Mrs. Oscar Johnson, Mrs. Louis Stark, Robert Beutcher, and Robert Schmitt, and Fred Schutte. Seventy persons were present. Prizes were in green and white. A lunch was served. The committee in charge included Mrs. William Kostitzke, Mrs. George Grimmer, Mrs. Harry Junge, Mrs. William Schultz, and Mrs. Alvin Frailling, and hostesses were Mrs. Reno Clark, Mrs. Nora Dailey, and Mrs. Louis Stark. The next meeting of the Auxiliary will be April 18.

Two Appleton men were elected district officers of Odd Fellows to the district meeting Saturday night at Oshkosh. They are Wilson Patterson, vice president, and John McCarter, treasurer. Other officers include J. Brown, Menasha, secretary; and H. Wilson, Menasha, warden. Seventeen members from Appleton attended the meeting. About 86 persons were present, including representatives from lodges of Kaukauna, Appleton, Menasha, Stockbridge, and Oshkosh.

J. T. Reeve circle, Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, will meet at 7:30 Tuesday evening at Odd Fellow hall. Balloting on candidates and initiation will take place and a social hour will follow.

Konomic lodge, Order of Odd Fellows, will meet at 8 o'clock Monday night at Odd Fellow hall. Routine business will be discussed.

Catholic Order of Foresters will meet at 8 o'clock Tuesday night at Catholic home. Routine business will be transacted.

THREE GREEK LETTER GROUPS HOLD PARTIES

Three fraternity house parties entertained students at Lawrence college Saturday evening. Phi Kappa Tau, national men's fraternity, entertained 45 couples at an Apache party at the chapter house on N. Union-st. The walls were covered with burlap and hung with beer signs and typical bar-room decorations. A large bar was set up in the kitchen and sandvich covered the floor. Pretzels, root beer and ham sandwiches were served as refreshments. Albert Ogilvie and Miss Helen Mueller chartered and Ray Menning's orchestra played. All the guests appeared in typical bawdy costumes.

Forty couples were entertained at the Delta Iota house on N. Union-st at a spring house party. Croquet party decorations in pastel shades and colored flood lights furnished the decorations. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Clapp chartered and the Jones-Houren orchestra played. Dance programs were given as favors.

Theta Phi fraternity entertained at the annual Bar party. Decorations were in appropriate bawdy style and a buffet supper was served about 11 o'clock. Coach and Mrs. Einar Tangen chartered and Sperka's orchestra played. Approximately 45 couples attended the party.

Be Careful To Listen To Your Child

BY ANGELO PATRI

All that a child says may not be inspired by wisdom but he is to be heard in spite of all that. The best way I know to get acquainted with a man is to listen to him talk. The more he talks the more I learn about him. If I listen long and earnestly he will soon have given me a clear picture of the sort of being he is, which is exactly what I would like to know. There is, likewise, no surer way of understanding a child.

Of course there is usually some difficulty about getting the child started. He is likely to talk about everything under the sun when he does start. It is the part of wisdom here to sit still and use the ears. Everything that a child says, expressed through his actions, his words, his bearing, colored by what we call his personality.

One child sees a bird on the flowering shrub and stands at gaze, reverent, thrilled, elated. Another child sees the same bird and instantly throws a stone at it. The personality of each colored his conduct. When the children tell their mothers about what they saw the two stories will differ as widely as the two actions, each colored again by the personality through which it was delivered.

There is much hidden from teachers and mothers. They cannot see all that children do. They cannot hear all they say. Soon the young ones screen their personalities with all sorts of disguises, words, actions, poses, attitudes—all intended to hide the child that they are and to present the child you are supposed to admire. Now if your admiration is extended to a fine child, the person who will benefit most is the child himself. He will be a better person, a better citizen, a better man, a better woman, a better mother, a better father, a better son, a better daughter, a better neighbor, a better citizen, a better man, a better woman, a better mother, a better father, a better son, a better daughter, a better neighbor, a better citizen.

It is easy to deceive oneself about what a child says and hear only what one wants to hear. It is easy to pretend. Easy to make the wish father the decision. Listening with sincerity is not easy. Listening without, without shock, is possible, but not easy. Yet one must master the art of listening if one is to deal wisely with children.

Listen until you can hear the voice of fear in the braggar. Listen until you can hear power in the shy story of effort. Listen so that you can detect the voice of self-justification in the story of a decision rendered selfishly. Listen with the keen ears of experience so that you discern the questions under the cocksure retical of an ignorant mind struggling with new and dangerous situations. Listen with all your mind and with all your heart and with all your soul, for there is much to be learned. And let your words be few, so that they may be the more welcome. (Copyright, 1931, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

PLAN LUNCHEON FOR CIRCLE OF CHURCH SOCIETY

Mrs. Frank Schneider's circle of the Ladies Aid society of Memorial Presbyterian church will hold its final meeting of the church year in the form of a luncheon at 1:15 Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. S. Mason, 202 N. Law-st. Assistant hostesses will be Mrs. Carl Evans and Mrs. Leda Clark. A brief report of the financial status of the group will be given after which a social hour will take place. New captains of circles were drawn recently and the members will be reappointed at the next general meeting, the first Tuesday in April. The captains are Mrs. F. J. Foreman, Mrs. William Farlow, and Mrs. Douglas Nelson. The new circle will meet for the first time the third Tuesday in April.

COUNTERFEIT $10 BILLS CIRCULATED

Word has been received here at the Appleton post office of the appearance of counterfeit $10 gold certificates. The counterfeit was received from the federal treasury department. The certificate, series of 1928, has the check letter G, face plate No. 138, and back plate No. 46. It bears the signature of W. O. Woods, treasurer of the United States, and A. W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, and the portrait of Hamilton. Holders of the bill will not present it with the back side up as that plate has a false shade of green which fails to disclose the white lines in the border lathe work. It has a dark and smudgy appearance.

STREET FLUSHER IS PUT INTO OPERATION

College-ave was given its first spring bath early Monday morning when the street department flusher started on its summer program. Six street department employees who have been out of work all winter cleaning leaves and grass and other rubbish from gutters. White wings will not be put on until April 1, according to Theodore Albrecht, street commissioner.

Old "Mellerdramer" Again Thrills National Capital

BY DOROTHEA J. LEWIS
(Post-Crescent Washington Society Editor)

Washington—Last week in the national capital saw an authentic revival of the old ten-twenty-thirty "mellerdrama" with "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model" again treading the boards. Two men from Wisconsin had a great deal to do with his ability to tread at all, since they rescued her from the elevated railroad tracks, from a den of iniquity and a fate far worse than death, from an explosion on the Brooklyn bridge, and from a descending freight elevator. All in all they earned their titles of "hero."

The vaillant lads were A. E. Dubber, Jr., who played the intrepid hero, "Jack Carroll" and brought down the house at almost every line and appearance, and Cecil Lovell, who played the slapstick, good-hearted, stupid German errand boy, "Otto." Both young men are former students of the University of Wisconsin.

Miss Emilie Wiedenbeck and Miss Lucille Kessenich, both of Madison, were in Washington last week on their way to New York from Florida. Miss Wiedenbeck is the originator of the "Peter Mable" books for children.

Senator and Mrs. John J. Blaine were guests Wednesday at a dinner given by Senator and Mrs. Burton K. Wheeler of Montana in honor of the Chinese minister and Madame Wu.

Friday, the Blaines started on a motor trip home to Roscobel.

Robert Allen, former Wisconsin newspaper man, and now chief of the Washington bureau of the Christian Science Monitor, is among the newspaper men accompanying President Hoover on his trip to Porto Rico. They left Washington Thursday.

Miss Bess Goodkoop, who formerly taught in Green Bay, reported on "Why Go to College," at the Saturday session of the American Association of University Women's two-day college program. Friday, a dinner was given, attended by about 200 members and their guests. The decorative scheme for the dinner consisted of brilliant posters representing prominent women's colleges and universities. Detailed information concerning entrance requirements and special courses of the various colleges was given to all who sought it.

Mrs. William Kittle, formerly of Madison, hurried to Minneapolis last week to be with her mother, Mrs. Buchanan, who is seriously ill. Her plans for her return to Washington are naturally uncertain but she hopes to spend a few days in Madison, enroute.

Miss Sylvia Meyer, daughter of Interstate Commerce Commissioner and Mrs. Balthasar Meyer of Madison, had a very prominent part in the harp recital given by students of the Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore on Thursday.

In addition to playing with four other students in an ensemble Miss Meyer, as a soloist, played a group of three modern selections by Salzedo, and the "Introduction and Allegro" for harp by Ravel. In the latter selection, which is in the nature of a duet, Miss Sarah Stulman was the pianist.

Miss Meyer now plans to appear in two more recitals this month.

Rep. George J. Schneider of Appleton left Tuesday for a trip to Panama.

Miss Mary Louise Brown, formerly of Appleton and now dean of Women at the American University, was one of the guests of honor at a reception given by the Women's Guild at the University Wednesday.

The other honor guests were Chancellor Lucius C. Clark, Dean George B. Wood, and Dean Walter M. L. Shilwan.

Mrs. Delos O. Kinsman, also formerly of Appleton, was chairman of the Hospitality Committee for the occasion. Mrs. Peter M. Anderson, formerly of Augusta, Fla., is president of the Women's Guild of the University. Francis Cramer of West Bend was one of the students on a committee assisting at the reception.

Representative-elect Gardner Withrow of La Crosse, who came to Washington for the Progressive conference, left the national capital for her home March 13.

The new dean of the college of agriculture at the University of Wisconsin, Chris Christensen and Mrs. Christensen left Washington Tuesday to drive to Madison. They expected to spend a day or so in Chicago and arrive in Madison on Sunday.

Dean Christensen resigned from the secretaryship of the Federal Farm board to accept the Wisconsin position.

Club Plans Dinner And Card Party

A group of members of Appleton Business and Professional Women's club will sponsor a Merry-Go-Round dinner and bridge party at 6:30 Tuesday evening at Candle Glow tea room. Hostesses are the Misses Agnes and Myrtle Van Ryzin, Mabel Younger, Eva Bushey, Dora Eberhard, Edith Van Stratum, and Isla Thompson. The party is for members of the club only, and the proceeds will be used to help finance the 1932 state convention in the event that it is held in Appleton next year.

The Appleton society will bid for the next convention at the 1931 state meet May 15 and 16 at Milwaukee. A large delegation is planning to attend from here.

The local group has been invited to attend a meeting in Manitowoc April 7. Several of the members will go down in cars.

Saturday, Dr. Kinsman spoke on Russia at the University of Michigan Alumni Banquet. Mrs. Kinsman also attended the affair.

Miss Genevieve Hendricks, graduate of the University of Wisconsin, returned to Washington from New York, Wednesday.

And add to things Washington is waiting for:

The visit of the King and Queen of Sicily. They are supposed to be traveling incognito.

The Fort Meyer circus with riding by the troops next week. Of course, General MacArthur, who has his quarters at Fort Meyer, is particularly interested in this.

Then there are always, the first cherry blossoms.

MILK, CREAM FOUND OF STANDARD QUALITY

All milk and cream delivered in Appleton was found to be of standard quality and cleanliness in the milk test performed last week by Theodore Sanders. Rocks were necessary in four cases.

A recent amendment to the milk ordinance make it necessary to publish all violations of the milk regulations. However, three red checks must show too much sediment, insufficient butterfat or too many bacteria before a dealer is considered a violator.

ARREST MAN HERE FOR MILWAUKEE POLICE

SI Bender, 206 E. College-ave, was arrested here by police Saturday on complaint of the Milwaukee police department, who have a warrant for Bender charging him with operating a confidence game. Bender was arrested by Sergeant John Duval and was turned over to Milwaukee police, who took him back to that city to face charges.

Only three cases of mild contagion, two of chicken pox and one of measles, were reported to Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer last week. All cases of whooping cough and several of chicken pox were released from quarantine.

Large audiences attended the morning and evening evangelistic meetings Sunday at Emmanuel Evangelical church, conducted by the Rev. Fred W. Eusemer. The sermons were both Biblical and practical, and the evening service was preceded by a film entitled "The Prodigal Son."

The service at 7:30 Monday evening will be opened with a stereopticon lecture presenting the orphanage at Flat Rock, Ohio, an institution

CANDLE-GLOW: The tea room on W. Lawrence-st, with none other like it in all Appleton... charm emanates from the very colorful sprigs of flowers on the wall paper... sunshine streams gayly through the well lighted rooms in this old house during lunch and tea time... and in the evening, the soft glow of candle-light playing shadow games upon the china brings a friendliness. It's here that the truly charming hostess will bring her guests and it's here that you'll find the sort of people dining who enjoy a pleasant atmosphere as much as excellent food.

DIDERRICH'S always satisfy me, for wandering about among lovely things that are so numerous for one shop to hold... but you'd love the wall hangings I found on second floor (you knew that Diderrich's had a display room upstairs?) Should like to call your attention to one hanging at the farther end of the room... a French shadow warp... gorgeous Japanese motif picturing tropical trees, tall and slender, against the green bronze background... and colorful Japanese maidens, kimono-clad in soft mauve and blues, sitting on light green leaves. It's too lovely to miss.

PETTIBONES: As one tears through this comfortable store, how can one... resist stopping to exclaim over the white wooly dog that barks, adorable crepe bonnets and cunning white shoes in the infant shop on fourth floor. One prize gift for the new baby which would delight a mother's heart, is an all inclusive Baby Book. Really, I've never run across one equally as scientific as this is attractive. "Our Baby's First Seven Years" includes scientific charts for measurements, baths, health records... it is illustrated in baby colors... and has a place for photographing all the other little details that fond mothers adore keeping. The book, in either pink or blue, is published for the Mother's Aid for the Chicago Mothers' Living-In hospital. Before moving on, there are nursery sets of glass jars... fascinating, hand-painted bottles for baby's needs... all conveniently set in a neat basket. If you should be looking for a baby gift, there are all sorts of things from basket scales in ivory down to painted rattles and teething beads.

WALK-OVER: This may be the shop for splendidly smart shoes but that isn't all they have there... no indeed, you'll find smart, practical shoes... but what my watchful eye pounced on for a price article were the hosiery boxes... convenient two and three drawer boxes covered in delightful prints in materials to match your room accessories. Would look grand on a dressing table, open the drawers and there your hose are... no fuss, no looking or wondering where your favorite pair of stockings are hiding.

GLOUDEMAN'S-GAGE: This is a good place to go in search of ravishing formal in the dress section, second floor. A crinoline side effect captured me... in a net and taffeta gown of golden yellow, with a glorious cascade of eleven ruffles. The good news is that all are less than twelve dollars. Another honey of a frock is a divine flowered taffeta, white background with gorgeous blue and green splash of peonies and flowers... it is really an adorable frock with a

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 by NEA Service, Inc.

"O H, good evening, Sue. Mind if I eat some head lettuce and mushrooms with your fiancée?" Barbara's silken tones asked and Sue had a desire to flame back at her, but something that was suddenly hurt somewhere in her took all her strength and left her a little weak.

Barbara was with Jack. Of course she knew that there was some purpose for it all. She didn't doubt Jack. Not for a second! But she realized that he didn't know the humiliation to which he was subjecting her. And because of that humiliation she was angry suddenly. She laughed lightly.

"Not at all! And you can order the most expensive dessert on the menu, too, if you want it!"

Another thought tumbled right over her first one then. Maybe Jack had just happened to meet Barbara. Of course he had! But Barbara put that idea aside, her pansy-purple eyes shining with deep amethyst dreams under a tricorn hat of crushed violet silk.

"When Jack asked me to go to dinner I was almost afraid that maybe you two had quarreled or something. Just as if you would after all Jack sacrificed to see your father's case! But sometimes the more you do for girls the more they want." Again the laugh that was like the peal of silver bells that played mocking, lilting melodies. "It's natural to go back to your first love, isn't it? Only I wasn't the first. I guess Jack has had lots of girls! Oh, I almost forgot. You have my sympathy, of course! Lots of people go to prison. And please don't blame Jack. Promise me, Sue! He can't help but lose when he hasn't any proof."

Sue listened while it seemed to her little darts of fire were swarming through her whole body. "Jack has had lots of girls!" So Barbara didn't want her to think that she was especially favored!

Behind Barbara, Jack's gray eyes were pleading with Sue to understand. Not to pay any attention. But she couldn't heed them. She had been humiliated, hurt. And she had to strike back. Even while she realized that Jack wasn't responsible for Barbara's thrusts she knew that he had made this situation possible. And because she did she had to hurt him.

"Oh, we're quite convinced that we're losing the case! Sympathy isn't at all necessary. Our family is rather helpless. But perhaps Jack would appreciate some in his defeat!"

Then she turned and almost ran from the room, the lights swimming in a golden blue before her.

"Oh, I think she's detestable, despicable, impossible!" Corinne brought out the words when the girls were on the street. "Don't blame Jack, Sue. He has her there for some reason. And he's so in love with you All Baba and his 40 thieves couldn't steal away his affection. Honestly, Sue!"

"But he's there with her and she'll think he still likes her and I'm just a... substitute. Some-one he chose when he couldn't have her."

"But he engineered the breaking of the engagement."

"Oh I know it, but he's with her tonight! Everything in me is going to pieces. Corinne, do you love Harry that way?"

"Do I?" The younger girl's eyes grew soft as warm green winds in late spring, bright as starlight on a frosty night. "Of course! I guess just being a woman is hell sometimes. But, Sue, all that's left is your pride. You've got Jack's love! And Harry's gone!"

"But I certainly didn't put any faith in his legal ability, did I? And I'm glad I'm tired of being trampled on. And that's what would hurt him the most! I'm glad, glad, glad!"

Around the corner Sue saw a man whom she recognized. She would get ahead of Jack! She would upset his plans.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

Dear Miss Vane: I should like to know whether it would be proper for me to call up several of my daughter's old boy friends, and announce to them that her engagement has been broken. She is feeling lonely and unhappy and I feel that she ought to be going out and enjoying herself. No one knows of the broken engagement and she has not given me permission to tell people, but I should like to help her.

MRS. M. T.
Don't make too much of a point of calling up all the old boy friends. It would only humiliate your daughter if she were conscious that you were making strenuous efforts on her behalf. And when the boys did come back, she would feel self-conscious and shy wondering whether they were actuated by pity in coming to see her at all.

Make the announcement as unobtrusively as possible, for you mustn't forget that the girl who has been engaged for a long while, is a very sensitive, retiring creature, once her engagement has been broken, and she is no longer looking forward with a sense of security to marriage and a home of her own.

I think you are showing the right spirit in wanting to help her but would advise you to go very softly in this delicate matter.

BY ANNEBELLE WORTHINGTON

Illustrated Dressmaking Lesson

Furnished with Every pattern

One of the effects of our return to femininity is the draped collar with plaited ruffing, that lends much charm and distinction.

Today's model in soft crepe silk in print in red and white on black ground, is strikingly smart with plain white crepe contrast.

You'll especially like the slimming trickily hip bands that merge into circular fullness at the front of the skirt.

And it's simplicity itself to make it. Style No. 3035 is designed for sizes 18, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

Navy blue flat crepe silk with white flat crepe is extremely youthful and wearable for spring.

Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards 38-inch with 3 yard 35-inch contrasting and 2 1/2 yard 35-inch contrasting and 2 1/2 yards plaiting.

You may see one attractive style after another as you turn over the pages of our new Spring Fashion Book.

Styles for children or the miss, the matron, the stout—and a series of dressmaking articles. It is a book that will save you money.

Be sure to fill in the size of the pattern. Send stamps or coin (coin preferred).

make up her mind to leave her mother and go away with her husband to a strange city:

"It seems to me that Mrs. E. B. had better let her husband go, since she obviously doesn't appreciate just what good luck she has."

"Any man who would let her stay with her mother, give her half his salary and the use of his car while he's away, is certainly too great a prize for a wife who won't follow him to his new job, and be proud that she can do it. Some day Mrs. D. B. may realize what a mistake she made in letting him go. No mother should take the place of a husband and the wife who sacrifices her man for her family bitterly regrets it in later years. If she will believe that I have suffered much from the same sort of mistake, she will take my advice and go with her husband no matter where his new job takes him."

C. B.: So long as you're there to protect your fiancée, she can't come to any real harm, even though she dances with people who disapprove of. And it seems to me that you're much more likely to win an easy victory if you stop nagging about this dancing problem.

It's just possible that your fair lady has enough obstinacy in her nature to make it imperative for her to do what you forbid her to do. Perhaps if you hadn't started by objecting too strenuously to the type of dancing partner she prefers, you wouldn't have made those particular men seem so attractive to her.

However if she's deliberately going on with this conduct in order to hurt you, you might retaliate by paying studious attention to some other members of the fair sex for at least as long as the dance lasted. And at the same time refrain from commenting at all on whatever she may have been doing during the evening. This new method may work wonders.

WAITING: Both your letters have been answered in this column, but lest you have missed seeing them, I will repeat may advice to give up all thought of this man since obviously he is not interested and your own infatuation is making your work impossible for you. It will truly do the greatest good for you to forget him completely even though you will have to work hard and use all your courage to accomplish this.

COMPACTS FOR EVENING MUST BE BEAUTIFUL

BY ALICIA HART

Just as an evening gown should be glamorous, flattering, romantic, so an evening compact should be a thing of beauty.

First of all, of course, you must have the makings to repair your beauty between dances or between acts if you find that your make-up has left you.

This includes rouge, lip-stick, powder, eye-shadow and eye-brow pencil. Of course, you must not will be quite different from that in your daytime compact, for if you haven't tried out the new green, mauve and blue powders for evening wear, don't let another day pass until you do.

Second, your evening compact and lip-stick should be beautiful to look at, an evening color, jeweled, or at least ornamented until it is in a class with the gems you wear.

You do not need to pay a thousand dollars for your evening compact, though I have seen them with precious jewels in them and platinum and ebony until they cost that and then some.

It is taste you need in selecting your evening compact, not millions. In the cheapest of stores you can often find just the right color to go with your new evening dress, slippers and bag and you can fill it with your own rouge, powder, and other makings.

Pastel colored evening compacts are quite the vogue and the white compact, with a touch of red or other shade, follows the vogue for the white gown with different colored accessories.

Once you have picked your compact, do not check it with your carriage boots in the cloak room. You should contrive—if you have to make a pocket in the skirt of your frock—to keep your make-up with you. Any of the new evening purses are personable enough to accompany you to the night club table or the ball room floor. And don't let the whole evening go by without repairing the ravages of heat, dancing and bumping into folks.

Keeping make-up perfect is even more important in the evening than in the daytime. For if we must get down to practical reasons, evening is the romantic time, the time when young men find their hearts overflowing and their lips ready to pop the question. Therefore, be canny about this thing called beauty. If you can manage to have it when you come down the stairs to greet your escort before you leave for the party, see to it that you have enough makings along and enough thought for it in your mind to keep it with you until the party is all over and you are home again, getting ready for sleep.

Bits of jelly, jam or preserved fruits spread on egg omelet after it has been cooked and then sprinkled with confectioner's sugar makes a good luncheon dish. Coffee should be served with the omelet.

To whiten clothes boil the articles in a strong solution of cream of tartar water about 1 hour, then rinse well and boil again in a well-blued water until the water is clear. The sun will aid in making them beautifully white.

When a recipe calls for macaroons and there are no more on hand, take a cup of dried bread crumbs, 1 cup sugar, and 2 teaspoons almond flavoring, mix together and put in the oven to get very brown. This cannot be told from the real thing.

SEEK CITY POSITIONS AT NEXT ELECTION

All Aldermen at Menasha Are Faced With Opposition in April

Menasha—The ticket for the municipal election in April 7 was completed late Saturday when nomination papers for 26 candidates for office had been filed at the office of John J. Wadsworth city clerk.

A three-way race for city treasurer has developed with C. A. Heckrodt, incumbent, opposed by John Schreibeis and Michael Zielinski.

Four candidates for alderman in both the Fourth and Fifth wards have tested their bids into the ring. In the Fourth ward, John Lingard, incumbent, is opposed by P. Michalikiewicz, J. Scrovnoski and A. Gajewski; while James Baldwin, Fifth ward alderman, is opposed for reelection by Charles Grade, Theodore Beach and Mrs. Emma Paver. T. McGillan and F. Budey are candidates for First ward alderman, while Michael Smith, incumbent, is opposed in the Second ward by H. Duerrwächter, Michael Grodz, incumbent, and William Meyer, seeking office as Third ward alderman.

Two supervisors, E. Sonnenberg of the Third ward and R. M. Hecker, Fourth ward, are unopposed. In the First ward, R. E. Fahrback is opposed by George Loeschner; in the Second ward, Louis Kolashinski and B. Hart have tossed their hats into the ring; and in the Fifth ward, E. F. Fahrback is opposed by J. J. Mohr. John Marsh, candidate for justice of the peace, is unopposed.

Taken into court the following morning, Diener pleaded not guilty.

VETERAN SEEKING FULL COMPENSATION

Earl Fraser Appears Before Federal Board of Appeals

BY RUBY A. BLACK
(Post-Crescent Wash. Bureau)
Washington—Earl Fraser, Appleton veteran of the World War, is here to appear before the board of appeals of the Veterans' Administration in an effort to get complete compensation for disabilities resulting from his war service.

Rep. George J. Schneider of Appleton has been trying for some years to get approval of his claim. He contracted eczema during the war, and it was not recognized as connected with his service until 1922. Since that time he has been getting 25 per cent disability compensation, which brings him $24 a month.

He was treated for his trouble at various government hospitals from 1920 to 1922, but finally was told that they could no longer hospitalize him for this disability. He went to the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., at his own expense, for treatment. When he could no longer afford to remain there, he returned home and continued X-ray treatments under the care of a reputable physician there. The X-ray treatments burned his face, however, and one hand is very badly crippled as a result.

The Veterans' administration refused to connect these burns with his service, although they now admit that the original trouble was connected with his service and that they had refused to hospitalize him for a service-connected disability, with the result that other treatments caused the burns.

With the aid of the congressman, he is seeking more adequate compensation.

STOCK MARKET TONE IS ONE OF CONFUSION

Sentiment Turns from One Side to Other, Almost Over Night

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—Seldom has there been so great confusion in the Wall Street mind as to the immediate future of the stock market as exists today. It is not that opinion is divided on the outlook—it is always that—but sentiment turns from one side to the other overnight, and sometimes between morning and afternoon.

The arguments either for or against the market are almost equally convincing, or unconvincing, as you choose. In favor of rising prices there is first of all the fact that the bear market is 18 months old. It was in September, 1929, that the first premonitory quavering was observed, followed by the market collapse in October and November. Now after a year and a half prices are not back, taking them as a whole, to the lows of that panic period. Therefore the turn is that much nearer.

In the second place, money rates are at the lowest of a generation. That is of course a direct result of business depression but it facilitates speculation for the rise in securities.

Moreover, the market is, in the Wall Street phrase, "sold out." If there are any distress holdings overhanging it they are not being pressed for sale.

See Recovery Signs
Signs of business recovery come from the motor car and the textile industry. There are indications of a better retail turnover. It may be inflation, but the money borrowed by the veterans under the provisions of the new law is finding its way back into the channels of trade.

The doubters point to the plight of the railroads. It is almost impossible for the older generation of traders to visualize genuine recovery in the stock market without participation by the railway shares, and such participation is barred by car loading figures, by income statements and by reductions in dividends, actual and prospective. New comers to speculative circles do not put so much stress on this phase of the outlook. They attribute the loss of income on the part of the railroads to large part to motor cars and other competitive forms of transportation. Nevertheless, the railway stocks are holding back the rest of the market.

Concern is expressed over the prospects of heavy losses in income taxes this year compared with a year ago, and over the necessity of new government financing. So far this has not affected the bond market, which is most concerned, in any great degree, but it does create some uneasiness.

Farm Situation Bad
Finally, and most important of all, is the distressing agricultural situation, particularly that of the wheat farmers. Again and again it is asked what will happen when the government finally lets go of its huge holdings of grain, and there is no reassuring answer.

The result is that while last week the line of least resistance for prices has been upward, the movement has not converted the skeptics. There has been some short covering but there are still large outstanding commitments for the decline. About the only thing that is clear is that the market is a highly discriminatory affair. The rails and the oils have few friends. The utilities have the largest following, with the food and motor stocks next in order and various specialties now strong and now weak, according to reports as to their financial and trade condition. It is an ideal market for the nimble in-and-out trader but the long range speculator is still uncertain as to what is the most profitable course to pursue.

SCHOOL CAGERS LEAVE TUESDAY FOR MADISON

Neenah—The high school basketball team, winners of the district tournament here a week ago, will leave Tuesday morning by automobile for Madison to take part in the annual state tournament. The team will defend its state championship title. It will play its first game at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening against Racine Washington Park school.

Should the team survive the first three days' games and get into the finals Saturday night, arrangements have been made for a special train to Madison. The team would leave early in the afternoon, returning immediately after the game.

START REMODELING CITY HALL AUDITORIUM

Neenah—Remodeling of city hall auditorium for James P. Havelly post American Legion has been started by the Legion. The work will be completed in time for the meeting on April 6. The rooms will be the permanent home of the legion until such time as the post will erect a building of its own. The city has donated the use of the hall to the legion for two nights each week, and to the Legion Auxiliary for one afternoon and evening of each week.

S. FARM BODY TO ABANDON ITS WHEAT POLICY

Farmers Must Limit Yield or Accept World Prices, Is Warning

Washington (AP)—Learning that he cannot expect the government to attempt stabilization of the 1931 wheat crop, the farmer today had two alternatives—to limit production to domestic demand or accept world prices.

The farm board made it clear yesterday that its stabilization corporation will not try artificial price maintenance indefinitely since the work is of an emergency nature and expensive.

The board reiterated in a statement, however, it planned no change in policy in respect to 1930 wheat, now being stabilized through purchases of surplus stocks.

About 200,000,000 bushels of wheat have been bought by the stabilization corporation out of a $500,000,000 revolving fund authorized by congress.

Claiming these purchases in 1929 and 1930 saved wheat farmers "many millions of dollars," the board said it could not indefinitely go on buying and holding these stocks.

"Farmers know this," the board said, "and would ask that it be done. It would not be, in the long run, in the farmers' own interest."

Permanent relief lies in acreage reduction and efficient production methods, it said, renewing its plea for drastic curtailment. It saw some progress in this direction.

Work Out Sales Policy

Saying it is too costly to state its sales policy in respect to unloading its holdings, the board promised to handle it "in such a way as to impose a minimum of burden upon domestic and world prices."

The board said nothing about cotton, of which it now holds 1,300,000 bales.

How much the board expended in price stabilization operations is controversial, but it exceeds $150,000,000. Late in 1929 it first entered the wheat pit, buying 60,000,000 bushels at an estimated cost of $75,000,000. In February, 1930, when dollar wheat became a reality, the board again bought at as high as 13 cents above prevailing prices.

Last November it went into the market with a new campaign, making purchases until holdings topped 100,000,000 bushels. Domestic prices settled 12 to 15 cents above Canadian and 15 to 20 cents above world levels.

Since then the corporation has added to its stocks, buying when it believed it necessary.

This wheat is held in storage and represents, traders say, a threat to the market. Besides these 200,000,000 bushels, the carry-over on July 1 is estimated at 275,000,000 bushels with predictions the domestic production for 1931 will equal the more than 800,000,000 production a year ago.

STUDY QUESTIONS OF LEGISLATION

Blaine Will Spend Long Recession Making Exhaustive Inquiries

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent

Washington—Sen. John J. Blaine of Maine plans to spend most of the long recess of congress studying legislative questions which will be before the seventy-second congress, but will have to work likewise on the pistol leases investigation and possibly on the lobby investigation.

Sen. and Mrs. Blaine left here Friday to drive home, expecting to reach Boston Sunday night.

The proposed injunction measure, to prevent the abuse of injunctions, will engage his attention for a while. Sen. Blaine is a member of the judiciary committee, which is handling this bill.

He plans to make an intense study of banking, which may be taken up by the Senate committee on banking and currency next winter. He is a member of the committee.

The house of representatives is continuing its study of this question also. Rep. Michael K. Reilly of Fond du Lac is a member of the house committee.

The senator will probably have to return to Washington a time or two to work on the probe of postal leases, as he heads the special committee making this investigation. As a member of the lobby investigating committee, he may have to return for hearings.

He will spend little time working on the tariff for the special tariff committee set up by the progressive conference held here recently, for material collected during the enactment of the 1930 tariff measure will only have to be brought up to date, he says, if the house should send a tariff revision measure to the Senate in the next congress.

PROTEST ABANDONMENT OF RAILROAD LINE

Washington (AP)—Members of the Wisconsin railroad commission and attorney general's department today appeared before the interstate commerce commission here to protest against the abandonment of the Soo line railroad from Policy to Jump River and Walworth.

The line is owned by a corporation which is without capital to operate, but it is under lease to the Soo line. To abandon the line would leave residents of the townships without railroad service, the Wisconsin representatives said. They contend that the interstate commerce commission has no authority to permit abandonment of the line since its continued operation would not burden interstate commerce.

Growing a garden of vegetables for the home is looked upon generally as a means of exercise and enjoyment for town and city folks, but in times of unemployment it may have a real economic value.

In addition, the small home garden is just as profitable to the farmer.

On the farm the best piece of land available should be selected for the garden.

CONGRESSMEN RUSH TO GET REMARKS IN OFFICIAL RECORDS

Schafer of Milwaukee Leads Badger Delegation in Number of "Extensions"

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Wash. Correspondent

Washington—The season for "revising and extending" the remarks of congressmen has just closed, and there was the usual last-minute rush of members, including Wisconsin congressmen, to get their views published in the Congressional Record.

Of the Wisconsin delegation, Representative John C. Schafer of Milwaukee led all the rest in the "revisions and extensions" which have appeared in the appendices to the record just at and after Congress adjourned.

Rep. Schafer very rarely lets any of his speeches go into the Congressional record just as he made them, and when he made them. He holds out even short speeches, having previously obtained unanimous consent to "revise and extend."

Ten of his speeches appeared in one appendix of the record published since Congress adjourned. Each of the 10 represented speeches actually made on the floor, but had been changed and enlarged.

Rep. George J. Schneider of Appleton had three in one issue. Each of these was an extension of remarks and did to represent anything actually said on the floor of the House.

The house has no time for all its 435 members to express their views on legislation before it, so it invents the "extension of remarks," for which unanimous consent must be obtained.

Six Wisconsin congressmen—Michael K. Reilly of Fond du Lac, Edward E. Browne of Waupaca, James A. Fear of Hudson, George J. Schneider of Appleton, Charles A. Kading of Watertown, and Merwin Bull of Black River Falls—were represented in the memorial issue of the Congressional Record with tributes to the late Rep. Florian Lampert of Oshkosh, this issue being devoted to the memorial exercises held for all deceased congressmen on Feb. 19.

Reps. Fear, Reilly and Kading were the Wisconsin who took advantage of the opportunity to revise and extend, in addition to Reps. Schafer and Schneider and those paying tribute to their late colleague.

Rep. Schafer's subjects appearing in that issue were:

An attack on Louis R. Glavis, law partner of Richard H. Lee, cleverly made through attaching an amendment to the Browne bill to permit the Menominee Indians to engage attorneys. This amendment provided that they should not employ Glavis, whom they had never intended to employ because they had been consulting the Hughes firm in New York. Glavis was formerly employed by the Senate committee on Indian affairs, of which Rep. Robert M. La Follette, Jr., of Madison is a member. Thus Schafer was attacking La Follette through Glavis and Lee, the latter of whom contributed to the La Follette campaign some years ago. During Schafer's trade, Rep. Thomas L. Blanton of Texas inquired if this speech was an announcement of his candidacy for the Senate.

Rep. Hubert H. Peavey of Washington tried to stop Schafer by points of order but was ruled out every time, and Schafer got even by calling attention to Peavey's frequent absences from Washington, which brought laughter and applause.

Hospitalization for veterans of wars.

Opposition to an amendment to the Lake Denmark claims bill which would have paid compensation to the next kin of men killed in the explosion of the naval ammunition there in 1925.

Advocating $10,000 instead of $5,000 for the family of Jacob D. Hanson of Niagara Falls, N. Y., who was killed by a Coast Guardsman who falsely suspected Hanson of rumrunning, and in general attacking the prohibition laws.

Discussion of some claims handled by his committee.

Advocating an appropriation for books for the adult blind, but attacking what he called the "subsidy" to a private firm.

Advocating changing the rules so that the Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments, of which he is a member, can subpoena witnesses and compel their testimony to investigate the expenditures of government departments.

The prohibition question.

Two speeches praising retiring members of Congress: John C. Box, Texas, Democrat, and prohibitionist; Ed. M. Irwin and Elliott W. Sprout of Illinois.

Rep. Schneider's subjects in his extension of remarks were:

Summarizing the achievements of this Congress on unemployment and fertilizer is usually available for enriching the soil.

Coal ashes if not present in too great quantities, may be worked into the soil, especially if it is a heavy clay soil. In cleaning vacant lots for gardens all trash should be burned or hauled away or the bricks and stones can be piled in one place and cucumber or squash vines run over them.

What Soil Is Best

The character of the soil is a big consideration in selecting a place on which to plant a garden. Most gardeners prefer a rich dark, sandy loam for earliness and high yields.

However, a rich, well-drained clay loam is often quite as satisfactory. Light sandy soils have an undesirable tendency to dry out during periods of drought unless they are well supplied with humus to hold the moisture.

Depth of soil is also important because, if you want long straight radishes, carrots, parsnips, and the like, you must have a good soil that is deep enough. The character of the subsoil is important. It is impossible to grow a good garden over hardpan or a layer of rock a few inches below the surface.

Requirements

Here are a few points to consider when choosing a location for a farm garden:

First, the garden should be on good, well-drained soil.

Second, the garden should be near the house for convenience in working it and gathering the vegetables.

Third, the garden should be in a protected place where it will not be subject to the sweep of the cold spring winds. A southern slope with buildings on a hill on the north for protection is ideal.

Fourth, the garden should be so arranged that the land can be worked with horse-drawn tools.

Fifth, the garden should be surrounded by a hog-proof, chicken-proof, rabbit-proof and dog-proof fence.

Sixth, the garden should not be shaded by buildings or trees but should be exposed to full sunlight.

Where to Plant

Permanent crops like asparagus and rhubarb should be located at one side where they will be out of the way of plowing and cultivating. Berries and other small fruits should also be placed at one side.

Crops requiring considerable space such as potatoes, sweet corn, melons, pumpkins and squashes, can often be grown to best advantage in one of the cultivated fields; for example, a block of ground in the corn or cotton field can be set aside for these crops, the rows made to conform to those of the corn or cotton, and the garden crops cultivated at the same time the field crops are worked.

Improvement of working conditions of government employees, particularly by paying the Wagner unemployment bonus, and the bill raising the pay of village mail carriers, both of which President Hoover pocket-vetoed.

He also praised the 44-hour week for postal employees, and the Saturday half-holiday for government employees in Washington, both of which became law, and likewise the bill, which the President approved, requiring payment of the highest prevailing local wage rate on government construction contracts.

This speech also attacked the prohibition laws and the "confusion and disappointment" of the Wickersham report.

Supporting the oleomargarine bill, levying a 10-cent tax on all yellow oleomargarine, whether artificially or "naturally" colored.

Deporation of alien seamen, advocating a bill he introduced, a duplicate of which was passed by the Senate but not acted upon by the House, providing for the deportation of aliens ineligible for citizenship who come in as seamen on ships of foreign nations.

Rep. Fear's only revision and extension of remarks was his outline of the late Henry Allen Cooper's "splendid war record."

Rep. Kading's "extension" was on the oleomargarine bill on which Rep. Schneider also extended his remarks.

Rep. Reilly's "extension" was a strong defense of Menasha against the derogatory report of Frank Buckle on the morality and law enforcement of that city.

In its weekly "pointing with pride" to its fingerprint system, the department of justice tells of the recapture of a man who had violated his parole from the Wisconsin State reformatory at Green Bay.

The department received the fingerprints of one Joseph Cappel from the Michigan State police at Cheboygan, Mich. Cappel being under arrest there and held for investigation. The fingerprints were identified as those of Joseph Benando, who was received at the Green Bay reformatory in January, 1927, to serve a sentence of from one to ten years for burglary. He was subsequently paroled. In 1929, the fingerprint division of the department of justice was informed that Benando had violated his parole and was wanted.

The warden of the Wisconsin reformatory and the Michigan police were informed that Cappel is really Benando.

future. Indeed while there is a reference to the change in the figures since last January it is described as "a slight but unmistakable improvement."

The fact that there are approximately six million persons unemployed, and that distress is being kept at the minimum is a tribute to the splendid work of the relief agencies and the generosity of the American people. There is no way of course of comparing the latest census with other data on unemployment, though it will be recalled that during the Harding administration and the depression of 1921 the commonly published estimate of those unemployed was in excess of five million. It has always been assumed that the shiftless and transient groups amount to at least a million persons so that the net change today as compared with 1921 would seem to be about a million really unemployed.

The task of industry is to reabsorb this million persons out of the six million. Some experts have figured it out that a recovery in the mobile industry and foreign trade generally would account for at least two and a half million persons.

Take Sample Census

The plans of the department of commerce are to take what is known as a sample census every few months. The latest figures are of course based upon an actual survey involving the larger industrial and commercial centers, but when this is compared with the complete census of a year ago in the same cities a definite increase is noted so that by studying the figures of a year ago and those obtained in January the department of commerce feels its estimate of six million fifty thousand can be relied upon. This is an increase over the two million, four hundred twenty-nine thousand and sixty-two as reported last April assuming that the percentage of increase in unemployment has been in the rural areas and in the smaller cities as in the larger cities. This significant sentence, however, appears in the department's summary:

"If as has been reported there has been a movement of unemployed persons to the larger cities, it can be concluded that the total number of jobless is somewhat less than the estimated 6,050,000 for the country as a whole."

But the government departments are not going to sugar coat the figures, they are to give out the truth whether it helps or hurts.

HOLD SALE OF CABBAGE SEED AT COURTHOUSE

A sale of cabbage seed for members of the Appleton Cabbage Growers' association will be held from 9 o'clock in the morning until 3 o'clock in the afternoon of Thursday March 26, according to notices sent to members by Matt Schafer, secretary. There will be two types of seed on sale, Perry's Own Strain, a Danish seed; and Copenhagen Marquette, the association strain. There is a limit of two pounds per person on the Danish seed.

Two Girls Sought as Indirectly Involved in Cudahy Tragedy

Milwaukee (AP)—Police today continued their search for two girls believed to be the indirect cause of the fatal shooting of Vincent Nowak, 32, in a Cudahy restaurant, Mrs. Stella Goss, 40, accused of the man's death, was held without charge.

Police reported Nowak was shot early Sunday when he and three other men entered Mrs. Goss's restaurant and demanded food and liquor. A quarrel followed. The men, according to the story told authorities, insisted on meeting two girls they believed Mrs. Goss harbored in her establishment.

Mrs. Goss said she told them there were no girls in the place but her statement was met by abuse. She said she ran to her bedroom and got her revolver shooting Nowak as he advanced. Nowak's companions said the shooting was unprovoked. The woman said she fired in self-defense.

Monday Evening, March 23, 1931

Dated this 19th day of February, 1931.

Superv. Sandhofer moved to adopt Resolution No. 54. Resolution of the finance committee and district attorney read. (Sale of tax certificates)

That the County Auditor and the County Treasurer of the county of Onondaga, New York, be and they are directed to give attention to the sale and collection of delinquent tax certificates, beg leave to report, that we are of the opinion that the present mode of selling delinquent tax certificates on June 12th and collecting for the same in several months later, for face values as of June 1st is in accord with good business.

Therefore be it

1. That the County Treasurer be instructed to collect on all delinquent tax certificates six per cent (6%) in advance from date of sale to the time of payment by the purchaser of the same.
2. That the County Treasurer notify buyers and the Finance Committee when delinquent tax certificates are ready for delivery.
3. That the County Treasurer shall give the buyers ten (10) days time to make settlement for their certificates, after which time the certificates shall revert to the county and the buyer shall forfeit his or her interest therein.

Dated this 20th day of February A. D. 1931.

Superv. Niesen moved to adopt Resolution No. 55. Resolution of the finance committee read.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Outagamie County, Wis.

Gentlemen:—Your committee on illegal taxes, to whom was referred Petition No. 13 of Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer, for the cancellation of the following tax certificates:

692, 657, sale of 1920, 691, 731, 744 sale of 1921, 934, 1450, and 972 sale of 1922, 1765, 1806, 1820 sale of 1930, 1420, and 1425 sale of 1928, and 1672, 1702 and 1717 sale of 1929.

Your committee finds that same are illegal for the reason that no patent has been issued as per letter attached said petition from the Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C., Wis.

This committee therefore recommends that same be cancelled and charged back to the town of Oneida and paid to the various certificate owners as follows:—

No.	1920	5	3.47	$2.24	$1.72	Owner
692	1920	4.81	3.73	8.54	Fleischb.

Petition No. 14 of Matt Felt for the cancellation of tax certificate No. 818 sale of 1928, amount $65.16.

Same is illegal for the reason that the taxes have not been paid as per receipt attached to the petition.

Your committee therefore recommends that the sum of $68.15 principal, interest $12.68, total $80.85, be refunded to the bona fide purchaser of said certificate and same be charged back to the City of Kaukauna.

Petition No. 15 of Geo. Peotter, City Assessor for the cancellation of certificate No. 216 sale of 1928, amount $3.00.

Same is illegal for the reason that description is illegal. We recommend that the certificate be redeemed by the county and that $38.81 be collected from Chas. Fr. Schuler, who is charged back to the city of Appleton, balance being fees and penalty due.

Respectfully submitted,

A. W. Laabs, Wm. Lintner, Arnold L. Muenster, Fr. Reichel.

BIG CROWD AT DEDICATION OF NEW HOSPITAL

Building Will Be Ready to Receive Patients by Wednesday

New London—Fair weather Sunday brought out a large attendance at the formal dedication of the Community hospital erected here at a cost of $200,000. On Wednesday it will be ready to receive patients. More than 1,000 were served at dinner.

The dining rooms, improvised for the occasion from the many rooms on the ground floor, were opened shortly after noon. In the center of the lobby were Sister Munk, superior of the hospital, with her two co-workers, Sisters Dwyer and Hickey. An orchestra headed by E. L. Reuter, played during the dinner hour. The lobby was gay with flowers.

WAITERS KEPT BUSY

More than 2,000 cups of coffee were served by A. W. Anderson during the dinner hour Sunday at the formal dedication. The kitchen staff, headed by Sister Munk, kept the waiters busy. A group of men offered their services as waiters, while others were assigned to take care of the crowd. This group included Otto Fehrmann, Antonio Herres, Robert Dauterman, and Reuter.

The official figures showed that 1,037 were served on the opening day. A long line crowded the corridors, and the facilities of the kitchen were pressed to accommodate the crowd; and the dedication ceremonies were delayed more than an hour. It was estimated that more than two thousand and inspected the hospital.

Reviews History

The formal ceremonies took place on an improvised platform erected at one side of the main entrance. W. E. Milton, who during the drive for funds was chairman of the committee, acted as master of ceremonies. Mr. Milton recalled his interest in watching the construction, stating that from beginning to end the technical work had been of the finest and that no attention had been spared in making the construction the best. He traced briefly the history of the project and called upon E. C. Jost, first president of the executive committee in its organization in 1926.

Mr. Jost recalled the initial interest of the Rev. John Kuster and the many characteristic traits which made the memory of the man beloved. Mr. Jost stressed particularly the work of Miss Clara Ziesch, who from 1926 to 1929, was superintendent of the hospital established in the residence on Millst, which still serves the community.

Mrs. J. W. Monsted, as president of the Women's auxiliary, spoke briefly. Mrs. Monsted said: "Through with great faith we have hoped for the realization of such a day, the completion of this beautiful hospital is beyond our wildest dreams."

George Hutter, head of the Hutter Construction company of Fond du Lac, paid a stirring tribute to the Sisters of St. Joseph who were seated with the group on the platform, saying that without them the entire program would have been defeated.

Praises Sisters

"No service is greater than that rendered within these walls," Mr. Hutter said, for in this country there is no better building. It has been a community affair from start to finish. It has been built as though we ourselves were to own it. Confidence built it, your confidence and ours. Had such a project involving a bond issue been presented to your city council it would, without doubt, be defeated. But then appeared the word of these Sisters, and their word was their bond, and their 100,000 is paid."

Milton M. Stanley, Shawano editor, recalling his dinner speech of a year ago when he spoke on "The Message to Garcia," added to that text by saying: "That young messenger in this case certainly followed through. The orders entrusted to his care were delivered, for we have here the evidence of trustworthiness, and I offer you felicitation and congratulation."

"Monuments are usually erected to show men's engineering ability. Thus were built the towers and castles of the ancients, most of them representing great cruelty to the workers and the agrandizement of the men who ordered their building. But was built the Tower of Babel. But in broad contrast I offer you a monument. The State of Liberty had no meaning until a Liberator was placed in the figure's hand."

LION BOWLING MEET CLOSES NEXT WEEK

New London—With the Lions' bowling tournament due to end next week, only one change in the scores was made last week. McPeak and Crane of Manawa went into second place in the doubles with a 1137 mark. These two had a good chance to go into first place, but Crane missed his spare in the tenth frame. At present the double honors are held by Kuehn and Buche of Shawano. Next week will see the wind up of the tourney with teams from Appleton, Clintonville and New London bowling.

which leads ships safely into the New York harbor. There are others, such as Jane Adams' Hull House, the Lincoln Highway, Booker Washington's school for negroes. These monuments were built with service as a motive, and will, as will your hospital, endure when we have gone. Here will come into the world those who will pick up the load when we leave off. Our united effort has become a beautiful thing brought together. Your hospital illustrates a united force. Your hospital becomes a reality so that the weak may share the same opportunities as the strong, and so long as each gives his best, pays the highest that it is in his power to give his gift is as great as the greatest gift of all."

BEET GROWERS MEET TO JOIN CO-OP GROUP

Calumet-co Farmers Gather at Forest Junction Town Hall

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Forest Junction—Sugar beet growers from the vicinity of Brillion, Zumbach and Forest Junction met in the town hall Friday evening to become affiliated with the Calumet Cooperative Beet Growers' association. The association was organized at Chilton last Monday evening.

John Seybold, local grower, and a member of the county committee promoting the new organization, conducted the meeting and explained the purpose of the association. Through the movement originated from an attempt to force payment of a bonus on last year's crop by the Monominee River Sugar company. Mr. Seybold explained that the organization now was chiefly for the purpose of securing a guarantee of satisfactory and complete payment on next year's contracts. Rules and by-laws for the new organization are to be drawn up at a mass meeting of interested persons at Chilton Tuesday evening.

Fourteen signers for the project were secured here Friday night. Others at the meeting had previously signed at the Chilton meeting on Monday. Payment of an initial fee of 50 cents entitles the farmer to a perpetual membership whether beets are grown in consecutive seasons or not. Suggestions for applying similar methods to pea raising were also considered at the meeting.

An annual meeting of the Forest Junction Holstein-Friesian Breeders' association, adjourned from the evening of March 5, was held here Thursday evening. Officers were elected as follows: Arthur Schnell, president; E. A. Rusch, vice president; Harry Schnell, secretary-treasurer; and Edward Kreimann and Edwin Seybold, directors.

A consignment of 1000 railroad ties is being delivered here to the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Co. by Henry Brooks, who cut them over winter on a tract of woodland two miles north of the village. The ties will be taken from here by the company to one of their plants for preservative treatment.

HORTONVILLE CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES

Herman Castellion, 89, Succumbs to Lingering Illness

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Hortonville — Herman Castellion, 89, Civil war veteran, died at his home here in the village early Sunday morning following a lingering illness. He was a resident of Hortonville for the past eight years, having moved here from his farm in the town of Ellington.

He enlisted as a private during the Civil War, becoming affiliated with an infantry company in New York. He served in the war for four years. His widow survives.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from Emmanuel Lutheran church, the Rev. G. E. Boettcher, officiating. Services at the grave in Union cemetery will be conducted by the Smith-Hammond post, American legion.

Randolph Binsfield, Chilton, was accused on a charge of drunkenness at 11:40 last Friday evening by Officer A. Kuhn after his car turned over into a ditch on Highway 28, two miles east of this village. He was to appear in justice court here at 7 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Binsfield, accompanied by Miss Maude Joyce, also of Chilton, was returning from New London when he lost control of his machine. The car ran into a ditch five feet deep and turned over onto a large rock pile where it was badly damaged. The two occupants escaped injury.

Funeral services for Mrs. Frank A. Wendorf (nee Clara Maldeuin), will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Friedens Evangelical church, Milwaukee. Survivors are the widow, a son, Franklin, and a sister and brother, Linda and John Maldeuin. Mrs. Wendorf, who died Saturday at her home at Milwaukee, was a resident of Hortonville more than twenty years ago.

By Percival Christopher Wren Author of BEAU GESTE BEAU IDEAL MYSTERIOUS WAYE

SYNOPSIS: The respectability assumed by "Half-hung" Simon, now Dr. Charters, Gunman Gryde, now Mr. James, and Manoel Macadoo, now Dr. Macadoo, is menaced by John Wayne, patient at Charters' nursing home. Wayne has gained admittance there and an alibi for the murder of "Spider" Schlitz, threatening exposure as the alternative. When Macadoo demands of Charters half of the sum Wayne says is to be paid in the Lauderdale case, the doctors quarrel. Meanwhile pretty Marjorie Lauderdale continues strangely ill. As the doctors, James and their other evils assistants, debate whether Wayne signed the name of a real person to the confession, he has admitted that he had, but declares he will let the man hang rather than surrender. After accusing them boldly of their past crimes, he coolly suggests that they turn him over to the police.

Chapter 18
COCKSURE JOHN WAYE
YOU mustn't be a party to such wickedness," continued Wayne looking at each in turn. "You must be guided by your higher selves. You, Simon; you, Gryde; you, Manoel; you, Fanny; you, Lou; you must each follow the counsel of your heart. Give me up to the police, and each of you be white enough to say, 'The game's up, and this is where I get off'... eh?"

"Not that you would get off, Simon, when I'd said my little say about one or two dozen small matters in both England and America. Simon. You'd swing, Dr. Theodore Charters—and you know what that feels like, Simon."

"And what about you, Mr. James?" he continued.

"At Self-defense..."

"Ah! Self-defense... Giuseppe Fratelli, for example?"

"He got another gun to his hand, under the counter," cried Mr. James.

"He turned from the counter to get what you ordered, and you bravely shot him in the back."

"The man..." blustered Mr. James.

"Yes. And the woman who ran screaming from the inner room? You faced her like a man, or rather a gunman, and shot her in the chest and face. The child that came after her? You shot that child of seven—in self defense too?... Children are rather a specialty of yours, aren't they, Gryde?"

John Wayne's eyes blazed as he added softly, "No, you won't get off, Gunman Gryde..."

And you, Manoel. Accessories—before and after—fare badly in this country. That insurance racket was a nasty business at Santos. All obviously poisoned—and with the same unknown drug, eh? And some bad sideslips in Bahia, not to mention Chicago. I think you'll get 'life,' Manoel, if you don't get death.

"What would they give our Matron when they knew she was Mother Superior of 'The Convent' of unsavory memory?... When they found out that our Matron was Frisco Fanny herself, and heard some tales I could prove."

Nurse Jones sprang to her feet. "Say, do you three call yourselves men—to sit there and let that hijacker...?"

There was a knock at the inner door, an instant silence fell as it opened and Dr. Studley entered.

"You sent for me, Chief?" he said, glancing round.

Yes, Studley. Our wayward humorist, here, won't be happy until you have joined the circle upon which he has intruded. Now, Mr. Wayne, we are busy people."

"Good morning, Dr. Studley," said John Wayne. "What I wanted to ask you, is whether you consider me to be insane in the ordinary lay sense of the word?"

Dr. Studley glanced at the expressionless face of Dr. Charters. Since the Chief had sent for him, without other message, presumably he was his intention that this queer chap should be given a straightforward answer.

"Most certainly not," he replied.

"Would you say I was insane in the technical sense of being of abnormal and unhealthy mind?"

"I would not," was the immediate reply. "Quite the contrary."

"Thank you, Doctor. Do you regard me as a perfectly healthy man, physically speaking—one whom you'd recommend as a first-class 'life' to any Insurance Company?"

"Undoubtedly," replied Dr. Studley.

"And last but not least, Doctor, would it surprise you if I died suddenly... were found dead in my bed here, one morning?"

Sez Hugh:

Studley's answer proves Wayne's cleverness. Perhaps the turn in Marjorie's illness, disclosed Monday, also has a bearing on it.

INFLUENCE OF LA FOLLETTE IS MADE APPARENT

Measures Backed by Governor Meet With Favorable Action

Madison—(AP)—The influence of the La Follette administration bore down on the state legislature last week with greater intensity than at any time during the present session. The Cashman highway bill, regarded as the Governor's answer to the unemployment problem, was concurred in by the assembly and returned to the senate for approval of amendments; the administration budget bill conquered the senate after two amendments were adopted; the Loomis power district bill passed both houses, but must be reconsidered by the assembly; the Duncan bill for an executive council was concurred in by the assembly.

The Cashman bill, which, in its relation to relief during the present depression, is considered the most important measure of the year, passed the assembly only after defeating bitter opposition from eastern and southern counties of the state. Three amendments were added, providing for the allocation of $5,000,000 in state aid on the basis of 40 per cent registration and 60 per cent mileage $2,000,000 for county trunk highways as compared with $2,500,000 previously allowed, and a reduction to $5 in the license fees for small farm trucks.

The administration budget bill picked up amendments in the senate to bring its total $990,000 over the recommendations of the joint committee on finance and $400,000 above the budget of the Kohler administration. The Governor, through provision made by the new budget law, may veto any portion of the bill and send it back to the legislature.

Passage of the Loomis power district bill by both houses was hailed as the outstanding administration victory thus far, but enthusiasm was temporarily damped when, on learning the bill would delegate the power to tax, the assembly ordered it back to the joint committee on finance. It has passed the lower house without debate. One impediment was recorded in its passage when Assemblyman Charles A. Budlong, Marinette Conservative, endeavored to rush the companion Perry bill through to final consideration on Monday. This action, which would have delayed the action, which would have delayed the Loomis measure by clogging the procedure, was forestalled.

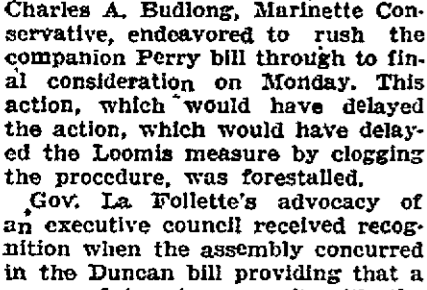

Gov. La Follette's advocacy of an executive council received recognition when the assembly concurred in the Duncan bill providing that a group of twenty men sit with the Governor as an advisory board. Ten of the group would be citizens, five senators, and five assemblymen.

Considerable debate during the last week centered about the Elmhurst bill to temporarily reduce the salaries of all state employees. Once indefinitely postponed, the measure was reconsidered and now rests with an assembly committee. An amendment providing for reduction of only those salaries above $250 monthly having been received.

The outstanding committee hearing of the week was a special investigation by the assembly judiciary body of charges by John B. Chapple, managing editor of the Ashland Daily Press, that an attempt was being made to "Steamroller" the Groves utility tax bill through the legislature over public protest. Chapple was asked to explain an editorial in which he criticized members of the assembly taxation committee. He had been ejected from the assembly floor earlier in the week by Speaker Charles B. Perry.

Shennington will get a new station building as a result of the commission's order. The old station burned down, replaced with a box car today. The volume of traffic at both Shennington and Preston requires only caretaker service, the commission said.

If the crossing signals are not flashing at the intersection of 14th street and the Milwaukee road tracks in Racine, street cars may cross the tracks without having the motorman flag them across, the commission said in an order given to the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Co. Street cars must continue to make the statutory stop at the crossing, however.

The following action was taken regarding motor lines:
Joseph Shubat, Green Bay, was given permission to abandon that route which lies between Seymour and Appleton on the Green Bay-Appleton line.
H. J. Olson, Green Bay, was given authority to operate a motor freight line between Green Bay, Sturgeon Bay and Little Sturgeon.

PREPARE BOATS FOR REOPENING OF NAVIGATION

No Trouble from High Water Is Anticipated This Spring

Kaukauna—Navigation on the lower Fox river will officially open on Wednesday, April 1, according to word received here from Major M. Tripp in the government office at Milwaukee. No trouble is expected from high water that usually hampered navigation about this time of the year.

Government boats are expected to start navigation immediately. Two men will be employed to take care of the opening of the draws on the Lawest bridge and the Wisconsin bridge here. However, the Lawest bridge will soon be torn down to be replaced by a new bridge.

Word that navigation will open on April 1 also has been received by Ben Frugh, head of the Fox River Navigation company here. He stated that the company tugs would be put into operation about a week after navigation officially opens.

A crew of about 25 men was kept busy last winter repairing the tugs and barges. The tugs have been completely overhauled and the barges repaired. New bottoms were put on several barges. Coal loads are hauled by the company from Green Bay to points all along the lower Fox river. Navigation on the upper Fox river is expected to open April 15.

CONDUCT RITES FOR JOSEPH J. FAUST

Service Is Held Saturday Morning at Holy Cross Church

Kaukauna—Funeral services for Joseph J. Faust, pioneer well driller, who died after a long illness at his home, 211 Oak-st., Thursday morning, were held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at Holy Cross Catholic church. The Rev. P. J. Lochman officiated. Interment was in Holy Cross cemetery.

Mr. Faust, born in the town of Harrison, lived in Kaukauna since 1889. He was the founder of the J. J. Faust and Sons company and served as secretary and treasurer for a number of years. He was chief of the Kaukauna Volunteer fire department for four years. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus, Catholic Order of Foresters and Holy Name society. He acted as secretary for the Holy Cross Cemetery association.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. George Mitchka of Milwaukee and Mrs. Bernard Lamers of Kaukauna; five sons, Louis, Bernard, Michael, and Gregory of Kaukauna, and Peter Faust of Westbrook; one sister, Mrs. Joseph Berendsen of Green Bay; four brothers, Louis Faust of Sheboygan, Henry Faust of Pelican Lake, Charles Faust of Neenah and Matthew Faust of Oshkosh; and 22 grandchildren.

Active pall bearers were Dan Burns, John Van de Loo, John Corcoran, Peter Bergman, Thomas Reardon and M. Heindel. Six altar men were honorary pall bearers. They were Ben Bell, Bert Roberts, E. R. Landreman, Eathan Brewster, Otto Luedtke and William Carnot.

FORMER RESIDENT OF KAUKAUNA IS DEAD

Kaukauna—Word has been received here of the death of Edward Wentland, 47, former of Kaukauna, which occurred Saturday at Wiscasset. The body arrived here Monday and was taken to the home of a sister, Mrs. John Gerhart, Island-st., where it will remain until Tuesday afternoon. Funeral services will be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Immanuel Reformed church. The Rev. John Schels will be in charge of the services, and interment will be in Trinity Lutheran cemetery.

Mr. Wentland was born in Kaukauna. He left here about 12 years ago. He is survived by six sisters, Mrs. Jack Reuter, Mrs. James George and Mrs. Charles Williams of Calif.; Mrs. Joseph Reiche, Mrs. Joseph Reiche, Mrs. William Toussy and Mrs. John Gerhart of Kaukauna; and one brother, Charles of Detroit, Mich.

CITY BAND MEETS
Kaukauna—The newly organized city band met Sunday afternoon in the council rooms in the municipal building. Plans were made for another meeting Thursday evening.

Humor magazine editors from about 100 colleges have been invited to attend a gathering at Madison, Wis., on April 1, All Fools' day.

The Post-Crescent's representative at Kaukauna is Lloyd Dornas. His telephone number is 194-W. Business with The Post-Crescent may be transacted through Mr. Dornas.

Four More Face Murder Trial

Their companion, Virgil Kirkland, 20, convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment, these four Gary, Ind., youths now face murder trials as the aftermath of the death of Arlene Draves, 15, during a drinking party. Left to right are David Thompson, Paul Barton, Leo Stanford, and Harry A. Shirk. Pleas on a lesser charge may be accepted by the state to save the long trials, it is expected.

Social Items

Kaukauna—Men of Brokaw Memorial Methodist Episcopal church will have supper at the Epworth Home Wednesday evening April 8.

The cast of the high school opera, "The Belle of Bagdad," held a dance following a rehearsal in the high school auditorium Sunday afternoon.

Kaukauna assembly of the Equitable Reserve association will hold a jubilee meeting Wednesday evening, March 25, in honor of all who have been members for 25 or 30 years in Odd Fellows hall on Second-st. Supreme Vice President Norton J. Williams of Neenah will present gold and silver jubilee pins.

HAMILTON RITES ON TUESDAY AFTERNOON

Kaukauna—Funeral services for Mrs. Robert Hamilton, who died suddenly early last week while visiting in Los Angeles, Calif., will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Brokaw Memorial Methodist Episcopal church. The Rev. H. J. Lane will officiate and burial will be in Kelson cemetery.

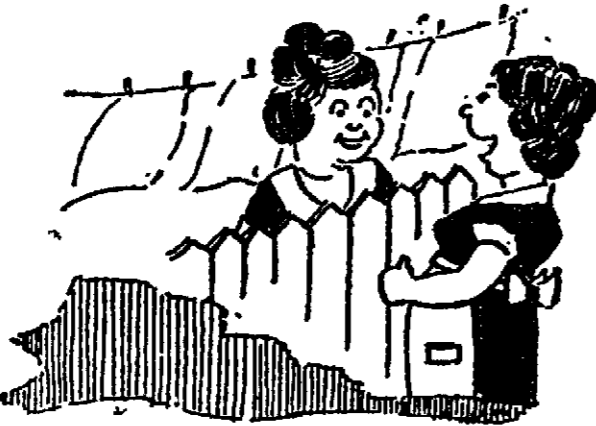

The body was expected here Monday afternoon. It will be taken to the Fargo funeral parlor. Funeral services will be held at the home on Brothers-st at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon and at 2 o'clock from First Methodist church, the Rev. H. J. Lane, officiating. Burial will be in the Kelson cemetery.

TWO GRASS FIRES PUT OUT BY DEPARTMENT

Kaukauna—The fire department was called out about 2:30 Saturday afternoon to extinguish a grass fire on the river bank in the rear of the H. G. Brauer home on Wisconsin-ave. Immediately after putting out the grass fire, the firemen went to the tourist park where a grass fire threatened the boy scout cabin.

Mrs. Jones to Mrs. Smith

"Yes," says she, "WINTER KING" was our choice again this year. We liked it so well last winter that we ordered it early this year—before house cleaning time. John says it is just the fuel he has been looking for... plenty of heat and a surprisingly small amount of ash."

WINTER KING

"THE COAL THAT LASTS LONGER"

It's the last word in fuel. Cleaned at the mine, cleaned at the dock and cleaned in our yards... most economical because it does the work it is called upon to do, has no waste and it outlasts the ordinary coals.

FARMERS DISPLAY KEEN INTEREST IN TESTING OF SOILS

Series of Meetings Scheduled for Week Throughout County

BY W. F. WINSEY

Greenville—Farmers of Outagamie-co are intensely interested in soil testing and in complete soil surveys of farms conducted by the extension service of the college of agriculture. Thousands of soil samples have been tested for farmers by County Agent G. A. Sell and C. J. Chapman, of the soils department of the college of agriculture. Soil testing is fundamental in economical agriculture, it is said by those who know, as it substitutes certainty for uncertainty in the use of fertilizers and the selection of the crop that will do the best on a field. Frequent cases have been reported to the effect that farmers who have had their soils tested after they have gone to great expense in the purchase of lime discovered too late that their soil did not need lime but needed phosphate and that they planted alfalfa in a field where alfalfa could not grow.

Hundreds of farmers of Outagamie-co, have not only had their soils tested but they have been advised about the best crops to grow on the fields and what fertilizers to use. Completed soils surveys of their farms, according to records in the office of the county agent. Among that number is William Schroeder, near this village, who received his report from the college of agriculture on Tuesday, and who is now making fertil-zation and crop rotation plans based on the soils' surveys. Farmers who have not had their soils tested will have an opportunity this week of testing by the county agent and Mr. Chapman. A schedule of soil testing meetings has been planned in a way to reach a large part of the farmers. All a farmer has to do is to take advantage of the service is to collect soils and take them to the nearest meeting. The highest of Mr. Schroeder's fields, a shortage of lime was discovered by the soils' survey and on lower levels a shortage of phosphate. Most of his fields are well supplied with nitrogen and other plant foods. Using his survey as a guide he can make no mistakes in the application of fertilizers nor in the choice of crops to plant in any field.

The county agent and Mr. Chapman join in inviting every farmer to collect soil samples and to attend at least one of the soils' meetings.

A series of six clinics will be held this week in six towns in the county, with Mr. Chapman, and Mr. Sell, in charge. The schedule follows: Tuesday afternoon, Center town hall; Wednesday morning, Black Creek town hall; Wednesday afternoon, Mahe town hall; Thursday morning, Onelida town hall; Thursday afternoon, Freedom high school gymnasium; Friday morning, Kaukauna town hall; Friday afternoon, Buchanan town hall.

Agricultural Department Sees Termination of Depression

Madison—(P)—Although the general level of business activity was as low in February as in the previous month, there were more indications "suggesting the termination of the declining phase of this depression," the bureau of agricultural economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, said today.

The general level of industrial production when allowance is made for the usual seasonal changes which in January remained at the December level, was slightly higher in February because of continued improvement in iron, steel, and automobile production, and expansion in cotton goods production, the bureau said.

The value of building contracts awarded, which in January was only slightly greater than in December showed an increase of about 9 per cent above the lowest level reached at the end of 1930.

"Other factors which give the current business situation an appearance of stability following many months of general recession are a slight improvement in retail store sales accompanied by a slight improvement in factory employment and payroll; a marked advance in industrial stock prices during February; a steady bond market in view of large bond flotations and a more favorable situation abroad.

"In connection with the appearance of these favorable factors in the past two months it may be of interest to observe that industrial production by December and January had declined 38 per cent below the previous peak compared with a decline of 36 per cent in the 1920-21 depression."

RAILROAD EMPLOYEES TO ATTEND MEETING

It is expected a group of Appleton employees of the Chicago and North western railroad company will attend a meeting of the Old Northern Wisconsin Division Employees' club Friday evening, March 27, at Hotel Calumet, Fond du Lac, according to W. W. Fradenburg, Appleton yard master. A program of entertainment is being arranged by the Fond du Lac committee.

They started saving for his college fund when he was born. Every year they managed to add a little more. Danny helped too, Saturdays and summers, and, after he started to college, in the campus book store. But the small fund wasn't enough. There was only $9.81 left at the beginning of his last semester.

But Danny finished with his class, after all. And it wasn't the first time that Household has helped a boy finish his education. Hundreds of thousands of families have come to Household for financial aid in just such emergencies.

Household offers loans of $50 to $300 on the signatures of husband and wife. No outside signers are required, and no embarrassing investigations are made. The charge on loans above $100 up to $300 is almost 1/2 less than the usual rate. Twenty months are allowed for repayment, with charges only on the balance due and for the actual time the money is kept. No fines or deductions.

Should a financial emergency in your family ever bring you to Household, you will find all transactions courteous, dignified, and private. For additional information, just mail the coupon or call at the nearest Household office.
